TRUMAN 'PLEASED' AT TIFF

Israel, Egypt Sign Historic Truce

HURRICANE HAZARD—Regarded as a hazard in event of a hurricane, the huge Navy blimp hangar at Houma, La., is dynamited. These views show the giant wooden structure—as tall as a 14-story building—as it was blown up.

Arabian Nations To Follow

Brief Ceremony Ends Fighting

RHODES — (UP) — Israel signed an historic armistice with Egypt today in a brief 22-minute ceremony which laid the basis for permanent peace in the Holy Land.

In the armistice Israel won de facto recognition from the Arab states, which immediately lined up to follow Egypt's example and make peace with Tel Aviv.

The agreement gave Israel the ancient city of Beersheba and 25 Jewish settlements in the Negev captured during last October's bitter battles.

Egypt won a 100-square mile slice of southern Palestine covering a 20 by 50-mile strip along the coast from Gaza south to the Egyptian border.

JOKED AT PARTY

Five copies of the armistice were officially initialled between 10:34 a. m. and 10:44 a. m. today but war between Israel and Egypt actually ended last night when both sides joked and discussed their battles at a champagne party celebrating the agreement.

Other Arab nations are expected to follow Egypt's lead and sign armistices with Israel shortly.

Negotiations between Israel and Trans-Jordan will begin here Monday, with Lebanon and Syria joining in simultaneous talks. Iraq and Saudi Arabia have announced they will adhere to agreements signed by other Arab states.

The armistice provides for:

1. Occupation by lightly-armed Israeli "defense forces" of the Negev desert areas won in last October's battles.

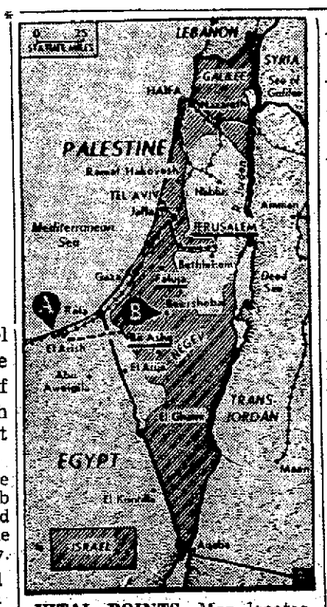
2. Occupation by similar Egyptian "defense forces" of a strip of southern Palestine on the Gaza-Rafa area.

3. Evacuation of encircled Egyptian forces and such Arab civilians as wish to leave Faluja.

4. Establishment of a seven-man armistice commission to sit at El Auja to supervise the armistice.

5. Retreat of Egyptian "striking forces" from the Bethlehem-Hebron area to points behind the Egyptian frontier.

6. Withdrawal of Israeli "striking forces" from Bir Asluj and El Auja to behind the line from which they launched their Negev offensive last Oct. 14.



VITAL POINTS—Map locates vital points in Egyptian-Israeli Palestine armistice signed early today. Agreement provides for demilitarization of all Egyptian-held Palestine and on Egyptian side of border as far as, but not including big military base at El Arish (A). Jews will be allowed to maintain troops at Beersheba (B), but base at Bir Asluj (underlined) will be demilitarized. Pocketed Egyptian brigade at Faluja (underlined) will be permitted withdrawal through Israelis' lines.

Dr. Strong Subpenaed For N. Y. Grand Jury

NEW YORK—(UP)—Anna Louise Strong, pro-communist American writer kicked out of Russia as a "spy," denied today that she ever took part in "espionage or sabotage" against the Soviet Union or any other state.

The 64-year-old writer, who arrived here today, declared that Russian authorities had mistaken her "energy as a newspaperwoman" for "spying."

However, she refused to denounce Soviet officials who deported her to Poland early this week. Instead she lambasted the 50 reporters and photographers who met her plane at LaGuardia airport for "mistreating her worse than anyone did in Russia."

Three FBI agents whisked Mrs. Strong from the airplane into the air terminal building upon her arrival on a TWA plane at 12:51 a. m.

They questioned her in secret for three-quarters of an hour and handed her a subpena to testify before the New York grand jury investigating communism and espionage.

"I have not done anything against the security of the Soviet state or any other state, either by espionage or by sabotage," the gray haired journalist declared.

"However, in the present tension of war hysteria the function of a journalist may seem to be spying. I was endeavoring with all my energy to do my job as a newspaper woman. They took it to be spying. If it so seemed to the state which is trying to protect itself, there is nothing I can do about it."

Wearing a beige Russian fur coat with a small black hat, Mrs. Strong repeated a statement she had made earlier in Gander, Nfld., that she hoped reporters would not "use me to inflame international friction."

LIKE ATOM BOMB

"I know I have become something of a sensation," she said. "But while I am news today, it is something like an atom bomb. It can explode and wreck worlds. Such a blast might have good results or might blast the delicate fabric of international relations."

After being cleared by customs and immigration authorities, Mrs. Strong was assisted by police to a car where several unidentified friends were awaiting her. She left the airport for an unknown destination. The airline had made reservations for her at the Belmont-Plaza hotel, but the hotel reported later Mrs. Strong had cancelled them.

The stewardness on the airplane, Adele E. Kaczkowski, told reporters that Mrs. Strong had confided in her that she had fallen into difficulty with the Russian leaders because she wished to visit communist China.

"You see I had a little trouble with the Russian government," Miss Kaczkowski quoted Mrs. Strong. "I wanted to go to China through Siberia and they didn't want the road open. It wasn't open and I didn't know it."

This bore out reports from qualified informants in Washington that Mrs. Strong may have been viewed by the Kremlin as a spy for Chinese communist leader Mao Tze-Tung.

Mrs. Strong was known as a strong supporter of Gen. Mao. Long active in China, she first went there in the 1920's with Michael Borodin, a Kremlin agent assigned to spread the Bolshevic revolution in the Far East.

'MIRACLE KID'—David Dempsey of Miami, Fla., is known among his neighbors as the 'Miracle Kid.' Doctors have given him a year to live, but twice before he has recovered when his case was thought hopeless, once from lukemia and again from an auto accident. This time his mother says stomach adhesions are blocking his blood supply.

Enjoys 'S. O. B.' Reaction

Laughs Over Controversy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman said today the reaction to his use of the term "S.O.B." in lambasting critics was very satisfactory to him.

The President laughed with reporters during questioning about the salty language he used in a speech Tuesday night at a dinner honoring Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, his military aide.

Mr. Truman said then he wasn't going to let any "S.O.B." tell him what government officials he should fire or hire. He spoke in defense of Vaughan, who had been criticized by News-Journal Columnist Drew Pearson for accepting a decoration from the Argentine government.

A reporter wanted to know today what reaction he had received to the talk. Without amplifying, Mr. Truman replied the reaction was very satisfactory to him.

At one point during the news conference, Mr. Truman suggested maybe President Peron of Argentina and Pearson may have nominated themselves for the 1949 Nobel peace prize.

This came about when one newsman asked if either Peron or Pearson had been nominated for the prize by the government.

Mr. Truman said flatly they were not.

Then he added, probably they were nominated by themselves.

CONGRATULATES BUNCHE

With reference to foreign developments, President Truman said he is 'immensely gratified' over the armistice agreement between Israel and Egypt, and congratulated Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations negotiator, for his part in the settlement.

Mr. Truman also declared that the Marshall plan should be continued until European recovery is assured. He mentioned no specific length of time for continuation of European aid.

The President revealed that he will renew his advocacy of compulsory health insurance in a special message to Congress within the next several weeks. He would not go into details.

During the news conference the chief executive announced that he is appointing Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney as undersecretary of commerce. Whitney is now assistant secretary of the air force.

(Mr. Whitney is the husband of the former Eleanor Searle of Plymouth, and a brother-in-law of Dr. G. J. Searle of Mansfield.)

Farm Tools Announces Expansion Program

Expansion of Farm Tools, Inc., by the purchase of the Harvey Manufacturing company of Racine, Wis., at a cost of more than $1,000,000 was announced today by the parent company.

Future plans of the growing firm include the employment of from 200 to 500 new workers at the Mansfield and Evansville, Ind., plants, an official of the local company said.

A company spokesman here said the firm currently is broadening its marketing by working overtime. Expansion of manufacturing facilities also is in future plans, but does not include more buildings at the present time, the spokesman added.

Purchase of the Harvey Manufacturing company, according to officials, rates Farm Tools as the largest independent manufacturer of farm machinery. The Racine plant manufactures hammer mills, grain elevators and corn shellers.

SECOND MERGER

Acquisition of the Racine plant is the second merger staged by Farm Tools within a year. Last July company officials announced the merger of the Farm Tools, Inc., of Mansfield, an Indiana corporation, and the Heinz and Munschauer company of Buffalo, N. Y., into a single company as Farm Tools, Inc.

At that time, the $2,000,000 company, formed by two Cleveland brothers, Harold and Walter Schott, announced it expected to produce more than $12,000,000 worth of farm implements and tools in Mansfield during the year. The brothers purchased majority stock interest in the Mansfield firm in February, 1948. The Buffalo firm manufactured tractors.

At present, Walter E. Schott, now of Cincinnati, serves as chairman of the board, and his brother, Harold, is president.

Reports On Slots

COLUMBUS—(INS) — Gambling law enforcement officers in the Toledo area are the worst in the state, according to a report just published by the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The report, available from the the U. S. government printing office for 45 cents, says taxes were paid on slot machines in 4,563 places in Ohio during fiscal 1948.

A breakdown of the report in the offices of A. J. Pfeiffer, chief of the Wage and Excise Tax division, in Columbus, shows how the machines were distributed over the state. Pfeiffer says: "You can tell from this just where they are clamping down."

The Cleveland district, 22 counties including Richland, had machines scattered over 1,121 different spots.

Cincinnati, the second largest district, had the best record—only 586 premises with tax-paying slots. The Columbus and Toledo areas are the smallest in the state. Columbus had only 596 places with coin-operated gambling devices, while Toledo topped the list with 2,260.

The federal government collects $100 tax on each machine, and each of the places listed may have more than one machine. Pfeiffer, whose business it is to administer the tax for the Columbus district says some of the places contain as high as 35 machines.

However, Pfeiffer says the main value of his card-file, which contains the name and address of every reported machine, is of value only as a source of clues for local officers.

He says the list may give country prosecutors and the like some idea of where to look for the slots. However, Pfeiffer points out:

"The fact that the man paid the tax in July, doesn't mean he was operating the machine in August, or even the next day."

Personal investigation still is necessary to clinch the case against an operator.

Pfeiffer handles 28 counties in the southeastern part of the state. He says that the cities in this area are practically clear of slots. There are none that he knows of in Columbus, he says.

Cafe Proprietor Beaten to Death

DAYTON —(AP)— Daniel J. Myers, 56, proprietor of the H. & G. cafe, was found beaten to death in his room at 5 a. m. today.

Police found a blood-stained pop bottle and said it apparently was the slaying weapon.

Myers' head had been beaten viciously, and blood on the room walls indicated there had been a struggle.

Lange OK's Aid Alliance

Speaks Before Norway's Leaders

OSLO — (INS) — Norwegian Foreign Minister Dr. Halvard Lange reaffirmed his faith in the North Atlantic pact as a real instrument of peace today before the Norwegian Parliament. He ruled out a separate Scandinavian defense alliance as unpractical.

Lange told the Parliament that his recent discussions in Washington and London convinced him that mere neutrality and small regional agreements cannot be effective.

He said:

"The solidarity of limited smaller units and a natural attitude cannot have the necessary effect of preventing war."

Fight Looms On Changing Accounting

U. S. Comptroller Promises Battle

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The 12-man Hoover commission agreed unanimously today the government's accounting set-up needs improving, but split four ways over how to do it.

The group came out solidly for "radical revision" of the present budgeting and accounting methods. Their idea, they said, is to show clearly: "1. On budgeting: what is the money wanted for? 2. On accounting: what do the taxpayers get for it?"

Present practices, the group declared, "confuse the Congress and the public and make effective administration almost impossible."

The bipartisan commission's sharpest disagreement to date focussed on the stormy figure of Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren, and the 10,000-man, $30,000,000-a-year general accounting office he heads.

Warren, a former congressman and himself an advocate of big-scale government reform, had given the commission on government reorganization advance warning that any proposal to trim his agency's powers would bring a congressional fight that might wreck the whole reorganization program.

A seven-man majority of the commission — including former President Herbert Hoover, its chairman, and Secretary of Defense Forrestal, Senator Aiken (R-Vt) and Rep. Brown (R-Ohio) —sought a middle course.

Aiming at uniform practices, they recommended creation of an "accountant general" in the treasury who would "prescribe general accounting methods and enforce accounting procedures . . . subject to the approval of the comptroller general."

That promptly provoked two dissents—one that the majority would encroach too far on Warren's present activities and the other that they wouldn't encroach far enough.

Party Scheduled Tuesday

GOP to Stage Free Lincoln Dinner

The Richland county Lincoln day dinner will be free to the first 250 persons who make reservations, county Republican leaders said today.

The dinner is scheduled for Tuesday night in the First Methodist church and will be served buffet style, GOP Executive Chairman Ralph M. Hardy said.

The planning committee first scheduled the dinner at the Richland Recreation center and had arranged to charge for it.

Stall Again On Reward

Guy F. Stewart, chairman of the Richland county commissioners, said the $5,000 reward commissioners offered for the capture of the murderers of the three members of the Niebel family will be taken up "when we get to it."

Stewart added: "We're not going to decide it now." He said the board intends to ask Prosecutor Harold Lutz, as its legal advisor, for a legal opinion on paying the reward.

Lutz had told the board that only notarized statements from persons who believe they are entitled to the reward should be considered. Three persons have so far filed—James A. Hildreth, of Columbus; Lowell H. Snyder, of 532 South Main street, and Frank A. Friemoth, of Van Wert.

Commissioners offered the reward nearly seven months ago—on July 22, the day after the Niebels were found murdered in a cornfield on the Fleming Falls road.

Robert Murl Daniels was convicted of the crime and was put to death in the Ohio electric chair last Jan. 3.

Shoup Raps Hiring of 2nd Warden

Sees Cost of Extra Man Topping Benefits

County Commissioner C. L. Shoup, only Republican member of the three-member board of commissioners, charged today that the cost of hiring an assistant dog warden probably will top the revenue he will bring in added dog tag sales.

Shoup opposed hiring Sam Peterson, Lexington, R. D. 1, as the assistant warden last week. Peterson receives $225 a month.

Shoup said he felt that a second man on a full-time basis was not necessary. He added that a second man hired on a percentage basis for two or three months "might have been all right if he used his own car and did not put the county to the expense of buying another car or truck."

He said that eventually another vehicle would have to be purchased for the new warden.

Shoup said that according to law only 50 per cent of the dog tag money can be paid for administration purposes and that the monthly salaries of $460 total up to $5,520 per year plus the additional expenses of gasoline, oil and other expenses.

"I am doubtful that it will pay out," he said.

He said that as of Feb. 15, there had been 7,212 tags sold which is about 212 more than were sold in 1948. He said that was before the second warden started working.

Guy Stewart, board chairman, in announcing the hiring of a second warden, said the county was "overrun with stray dogs and according to our population we should sell 10,000 to 12,000 tags."

Gets Hygiene Post

COLUMBUS—(INS)— State Welfare Director J. H. Lamneck appointed Dr. Calvin L. Baker of Dayton, today to the top mental hygiene post in Ohio, to serve at a salary of $10,000 per year.

Hidden Mike Case Starts

LIMA — (INS) — The trial of three law enforcement officers accused of installing Lima's "hidden mike" was to begin today before three Ohio judges—one of whom was cleared of charges of prejudice against them by the Supreme Court.

Sheriff William R. Dailey and city detectives Bernard Burkart and R. Robert Neely, the defendants, are accused by Allen county Common Pleas Judge Moran B. Jenkins of installing the listening device in a jury room during the murder trial of Richard E. Snyder, charged in the slaying of his wife.

Jenkins was cleared of a charge of prejudice brought by the defendants.

The defendants will stand trial before Jenkins and Judges Chester Pendleton, of Findlay, and H. E. Culbertson, of Ashland.

The trio has denied any knowledge of how the microphone was placed behind a radiator in the conference room.

Jenkins has said that the case is "the first in history" in which a court in the United States has been "wired."

Mary Lou's a Lulu!

Makes Sorority Sortie

BERKELEY, Calif.—(AP)—A dozen sorority houses at the University of California learned to their consternation today the true identity of Mary Lou Ullrich. "She" is Walter Robert Ullrich, a 20-year-old junior from San Diego.

Ullrich wanted to find out how the better half lived so he posed as Mary Lou during rush week on sorority row. That's the time the girls pick out prospective new members.

With the help of French heels, a borrowed new look dress, a head scarf — and strategically situated paddings — Ullrich counted these souvenirs of his foray into no man's land:

Seven return invitations to sororities.

Fourteen cups of tea and a dozen tiny sandwiches.

The telephone numbers of 27 coeds and one housemother.

His tensest moment, he told fraternity brothers at the Kappa Alpha house, came when a housemother took him by the arm and vital equipment came adrift.

"I looked lopsided but everybody was too polite to say anything."

No Tip Awarded; Starts Shooting

CINCINNATI — (INS) — A 46-year-old hotel house detective was in a Cincinnati hospital today suffering from a bullet wound inflicted by a bus boy angered because he didn't get a tip.

Frank Kestler was wounded seriously then he attempted to quiet Royal B. La Mora, 29, who had been serving a private party in the hotel.

Kestler told police that he and La Mora scuffled in the lobby when the bus boy complained about the lack of a tip.

Rescue Fails; Fire Kills Five

ATLANTA —(UP)— A mother dashed into a blazing apartment to save her four sleeping children here late last night and all five were burned to death.

The white frame duplex in suburban Riverside was destroyed by the fire, but the family in the other half escaped without injury.

Police identified the dead as Mrs. R. H. Wallace and her four children, Vera, 10; Shirley, 7; Leon, 5; and Patsy, 3.

A Colorful Marriage!

Firemen Aid In Wedding

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—Fire engine red will mingle with traditional bridal white when Patricia Frayne weds Saturday.

Miss Frayne, 22, has for a press agent her dad. John J. Frayne, a member of the St. Bernard, Ohio, fire department for 27 years.

When she came here to wed Frank Bottenhorn, 27-year-old former University of Cincinnati basketball player, Father Frayne went into action.

He wrote a letter to George Lockhart, chief of the Minneapolis fire department. And he said, inasmuch as he and Mrs. Frayne couldn't attend the ceremony for their daughter, would some of his Minneapolis compatriots help out?

Lockhart responded by asking that all Minneapolis firemen not on duty Saturday morning attend the wedding, to be performed at St. Stephen's Catholic church. The firemen, in turn, promised to provide the rice, a wedding breakfast and present.

Miss Frayne will ride to and from her wedding in the Minneapolis chief's official limousine—with an engine company as escort.

"But, gee, I hope they won't ring the bells or blow the sirens," the bridegroom-to-be said today. "We just wanted a quiet wedding."

For Friday, February 25

WHILE it is probable that the judgment may be entirely dependable or clear, yet such an exceptional opening for making a new start in an alluring or unusual direction, the feelings, ideals, imagination or intuition may have force to put things over with a strong or spectacular "bang," intriguing and thrilling. Such glamorous circumstance may be strengthened by pause for shrewd analysis or some very direct and practical rationalizing. But "hunches," curious urges might be entertained, but with due precaution and acumen. Proper affiliations may enchance good feelings and pleasure.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find it possible to make their ideals become realities especially by sustaining fancies, imagination, intuition or hunches, by a due show of shrewd astute and rational analysis of exceptional or alluring conditions. Strange propositions or glamorous persons may be found intriguing, but it is wise to give heed to commonsense and practical evalulation of the unusual circumstances. There may be exciting stimuli to the feelings or emotions of an idealistic or curious intent. Analysis may assist.

A child born on this day may be prone to make its decisions by its inner urges or drives, rather than pure reason. With care it may enjoy a pleasant and prosperous life.

Leiendecker Scores High

Out of a possible 300 points, Harold Leiendecker, Senior high student, received 238 on the Senior high scholarship test given annually to the top 40 per cent of the senior class.

The next nine highest, announced by John C. Stout, chairman of the Senior high testing committee, are: Charles Allen Brown, 220; Ralph Bravrick, 213; Thomas Swisher, 201; Robert Clouse, 200; William Scott, 199; Warren Alverson, 192; Joseph Herring, 192; Edmond Fuchs, 187; and Phillip Preble, 178.

Each of these students will receive a certificate from the state department of education. The test, which is divided into five parts, English, history, mathematics, science, and reading and language, was taken by 9,513 senior high school students throughout the state. Those achieving the highest scores will be awarded college scholarships

DOOMED—Found guilty of aiding the Gestapo during the occupation of France, Mathilde Carre has been sentenced to death before a firing squad. Her last wish—to make love and have a good dinner.

Blames U. S. In Cold War

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Henry Wallace said yesterday that the cold war with Russia is "something we started."

What Russia has done, he told the House Foreign Affairs committee, has been largely" to counter U. S. moves.

Wallace, Progressive party leader, asked the committee to cut off the Marshall plan on grounds its main objective is "to intensify the cold war."

"The actions of our government have created the impression to other peoples of the world that we are aggressors in our approach," Wallace said.

He said he knew this was not what 99 per cent of the American people wanted. Soviet Russia's activities in response, he said, have "largely been to counter something we started."

Bus Driver Adds Unscheduled Stop

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — John Horvath, Youngstown municipal Railway company bus driver, set up a new "route" for his bus yesterday, and added an unscheduled stop.

One of his passengers unruly brandishing a knife and frightening other passengers. Horvath said nothing—just swung his bus down through busy downtown traffic and stopped in front of city hall where two patrolmen "unloaded" the knife wielder.

Forecasts Gradual Recession

No Sudden Drop, Declares Expert

(Editor's note: Roger Babson, economist who predicted the 1929 stock market crash, forecasts in the following dispatch a gradual business recession which won't hit bottom until 1952 or 1953.)

By ROGER W. BABSON

WELLESLEY HILLS, MASS., — (UP) — People are again feeling pinched for money.

Competition in most industries is beginning to become troublesome. The supply lines are getting clogged with goods. The public has used up a large portion of its war savings.

With many more concerns manufacturing all kinds of products and with many more people without available savings, unemployment is sure to increase.

Then the "vicious circle" which caused the expansion is bound to work in reverse This is due to Sir Isaac Newton's law of action and reaction which is as fundamental in economics as in chemistry or physics.

On the other hand, I do not expect a sudden drop as occurred in 1920-21, 1930-32 and in 1937. Instead of falling out of the 20th story window we will walk down stairs!

This will be due to new inventions, unemployment insurance, minimum wages, relaxed installment regulations, and more liberal small loan operations, and to our tightly organized labor unions

No artificial or other legislation can prevent a red area of depression from sometime following the abnormal price boom which we have enjoyed the past seven or eight years, but legislation can change the shape of such a depressive area. Legislation can taper off the decline

Hence, instead of saying that a "crash" is just ahead of us, as I preached in 1929 when there was no "oxygen" or other drugs available in Washington, I now say we have started to "walk down stairs" and will not reach the pavement until 1952 or 1953.

There is nothing to worry about now. Both the employment figures of the past few years and the unemployment figures now being published are 90 per cent political estimates and guesses put out by Washington.

But the business honeymoon is over and we should once more realize that we cannot loaf our way to prosperity We must give more time and labor for a dollar of wages and profits.

Fritz Howell's

Sports Chatter . . . .

(Ohio AP Sports Editor)

COLUMBUS—We were sitting around chatting about William (Bill) DeWitt taking over as president of the St. Louis Browns.

Bob Finch, golden-voiced publicity director of the minor leagues, and one of baseball's veterans, observed:

"Bill is just another of the long list of fellows who have been nudged into baseball success by Branch Rickey."

Bob knows the maestro of Brooklyn's Bums well. Has known him for a long time. Finch, who likes to talk—and does it well—rambled on as we listened. His monologue went something like this.

"Branch was reared down along duck run, in the rocky country just northwest of Portsmouth His dad, a quiet, religious man, weighed about 150 soaking wet, but could put any man in Scioto county on his back. His mother, cultured, refined and Christian, was the balance wheel, the inspirer who held Branch firm.

"When he was a teen ager Branch fell in love with Jane Moulton, a merchant's daughter at Lucasville. The only thing he's ever been afraid of was that she wouldn't marry him. But they both went to Ohio Wesleyan, and that clinched things — they were married.

"Branch got into baseball, and Bill DeWitt was a St. Louis kid selling peanuts in Sportsman's park. He sold more than anyone else. Branch watched the kid, and finally asked him to become the club's office boy. Bill took the job.

★

"Mr. Rickey got Bill through high school, then asked him if he wanted to study law. Bill wasn't sure, but Branch was, so Bill graduated from St Louis U. By that time he was Branch's traveling companion and secretary

"When the Ball estate sold the Browns to Don Barnes, Rickey negotiated the deal. One of his stipulations was that Bill should be general manager. He got the job, kept it after Barnes sold out to Richard Muckerman, and now he's president. I wonder where he'd be if Branch hadn't noticed him selling all those peanuts?

"But DeWitt isn't the only one shoved along by Branch. Larry MacPhail was selling cars when Branch made him president of the Columbus Red Birds Larry went to Cincinnati, Brooklyn, the war, Yankees and then ran into an argument with Commissioner Chandler and started farming.

"Warren Giles went to Cincinnati from Rochester after Rickey had recommended him to the Reds. George Sisler was a pitcher for Branch at Michigan, but Branch made him the greatest first baseman of all time, and George is still with him. George Trautman, head of all the minor leagues, got his baseball start when Branch named him president of the Red Birds upon the recommendation of L. W. St John.

Billy Southworth wasn't doing too well when Branch got him a job as manager at Asheville, had him advanced to Memphis, placed him at Rochester, and then saw him move to the Cardinals and Braves. Back in 1926 Rogers Hornsby told Sam Breadon to 'get rid of Rickey or me,' and Hornsby was the one to go—but Hornsby hasn't made a move in 20 years without first consulting Branch.

"He virtually raised William Walsingham from a small boy, and now he's near the top with the Cardinals. Mel Jones, general manager at St. Paul, spent practically his entire career under Rickey. Hal Anderson of Columbus and Nick Cullop of Milwaukee are Rickey trained. Clay Hopper, Montreal manager, has piloted clubs for Rickey for 15 years, from Class C on up.

"Charley Hurth, president of the Southern association, got his training under Rickey, and Barney Shotton and Branch have been like 'that' for almost a century, it seems.

"Lester Burge, Johnny Keane and Pat Ankenman, all Texas league managers, started their careers under Branch He took Al Banister, president of the Columbus team, out of an Asheville newspaper office.

"No one has done more for baseball, and baseball men, than Mr. Rickey. He is a fine man."

"The Most Beautiful Show of the Year"

Big Handicap Set Saturday

ARCADIA, CALIF — (AP) — There will be quite a wealthy crowd of horses winging away in Santa Anita's $100,000 handicap Saturday.

A check of eligibles for the big race indicates that between 17 and 20 challengers will take off for the guaranteed hundred grand.

Here is a roll of eligible contenders for the mile and a one quarter day's work. Official entries won't be known until noon Friday. The roll:

Dinner Gong, on trust, Ace Admiral, Autocrat, War Trophy, Stepfather, Triplicate, Miss Grillo, Solidarity, Shim Malone, Vulcan's Forge, Rose Beam, Manyunk, Danada Gift, Fast and Fair, and possibly See-Tee-See, Drumbeat, Alablue

'Cleveland Story' To Feature Tribe Players and Prexy

CLEVELAND— (AP) —The world champion Cleveland Indians and their president, Bill Veeck, are going to appear in a feature-length movie

Tentatively entitled, "The Cleveland Story," and scheduled for release sometime next summer, the film will be directed by Herbert Kline, an independent Hollywood producer.

An associate, John Bright, now is engaged in writing the script, which is said to follow the general pattern of "Boystown," a production starring Spencer Tracy several years ago which was based on the institution founded by the late Father Flanagan.

According to present plans the film will have Veeck and a number of the Indians, including Manager Lou Boudreau, Bob Feller and Gene Bearden, taking part in a movement to decrease juvenile delinquency

Shooting is expected to begin in march at the Indians' Tucson, Ariz, training camp, but many of the scenes are to be filmed in Cleveland municipal stadium during the early part of the season.

Indiana Grid Schedule Set

BLOOMINGTON, Ind —(UP)— Indiana university's 1950 football schedule lists three former Hoosier foes, Michigan State, Marquette and Nebraska

Indiana will meet only five Western Conference rivals in 1950, taking on Iowa and Ohio State in Bloomington and meeting Illinois, Purdue and Michigan on the road. Notre Dame will come to Bloomington for the third game of a four-tilt series. The schedule

Sept. 30, at Nebraska; Oct. 7, Iowa; Oct. 14, Ohio State, Oct. 21, Notre Dame; Oct 28, at Illinois; Nov 4, at Michigan State, Nov. 11, at Michigan; Nov. 18, Marquette, and Nov. 25 at Purdue.

Two Can Grapple Cheaply as One

CINCINNATI — (UP) — The wrestling promotion game was thrown wide open today in an opinion handed down by Robert J. White, assistant city solicitor.

He held that the Cincinnati Boxing and Wrestling Commission had no right to refuse a permit to one wrestling promoter because his plans would be in competition with other grappling show sponsors.

2 Jobs Open For Finnigan

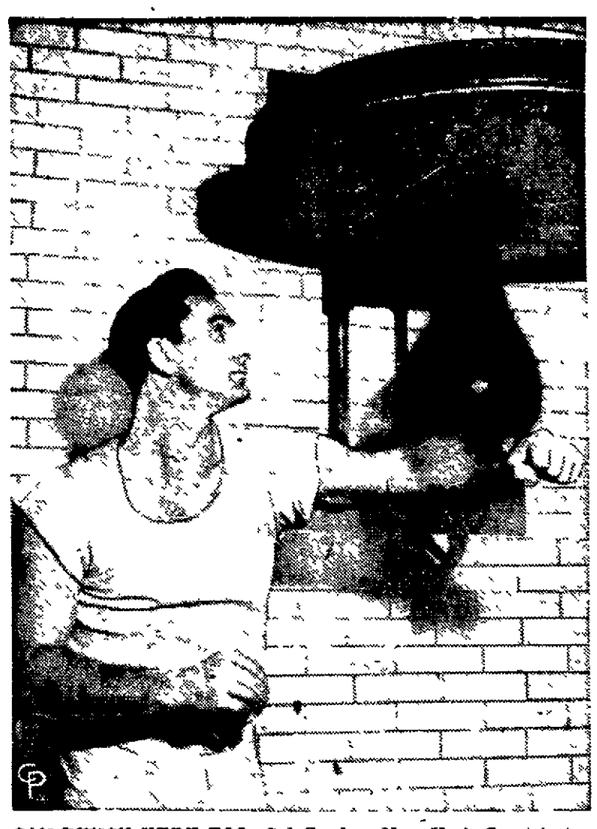
CLEVELAND — (INS) —Eddie Finnigan, Baldwin-Wallace track coach and assistant football coach, was considred a likely choice today for one of two gridiron vacancies

The former Western Reserve athlete who piloted Harrison Dillard to an Olympic victory, has been mentioned prominently as a candidate for the Cleveland Browns backfield post vacated when Johnny Brickels went to Miami.

He also has been mentioned as a likely addition to Bill Edward's staff at Vanderbilt.

PLACES SECOND

LOUDONVILLE — Bonnie Woodruff, local high school entrant in the recent district Music Festival at Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, won second place with flute in competition for placement in the band section



CAN PUNCH HERE TOO—Sid Gordon, New York Giants' star, who hit 30 home runs last season, prepares for the 1949 baseball campaign by daily gym workouts in New York City.

Sports News In Brief

14 Night Games

CINCINNATI —(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds will play 14 night games next season—one less than in 1948 — President Warren C. Giles has announced. He also said every Saturday will be Ladies' day.

★

Bobby Jones Out

AUGUSTA, Ga —(AP)—Officials of the Masters golf tournament say a neck injury dating back at least 29 years has temporarily ended Bobby Jones' annual appearance.

★

Open Golf Open

HARLINGEN, Tex , — (AP) — Sure - shots of golf whammed merrily away today over wind-swept Harlingen Municipal course in the first round of the second annual $10,000 Rio Grande valley open.

Dire Plans

BUFFALO —(AP)— Tom Rocky of the Buffalo club in the American Hockey league is an undertaker in the off-season, but before his teammates discovered it they got quite a scare Rocky drove up to the Buffalo training camp in a hearse he uses in his business. The squad was sure hockey was quite that rugged a game.

Classy Athlete Shoots In ABC

ATLANTIC CITY, N J (AP) — Dr. Harry Kerr, of Philadelphia who has bowled two perfect games, fired two holes-in-one in golf made an unassisted triple play in baseball, takes his rolls in the American bowling congress tonight with the Brunswicke Reds Crowns of Philadelphia.

The quaker city osteopath has two strikes against him as far as his doing anything sensational in this tournament is concerned. His reputation as an athlete is strike no. 1 and the 1,000 average his team carries is strike no. 2

Football Hornets Get Baseballer

CHICAGO — (INS) — The newly - organized Chicago hornets of the All-America football conference have dipped into the baseball world to come up with a business manager.

He is Art Lopatka, who captained the University of Chicago nine in 1941 and later pitched for two big league teams, the Cardinals in 1945 and the Phillies in 1946.

2—Card of Thanks

WE WISH TO EXTEND our sincere and heartfelt thanks to relatives, friends and neighbors for sympathy and kindness during the sickness and death of our dear mother, Susie Muth. We especially want to thank Rev. Gensel for comforting and consoling words. Also the Wappner Funeral Home, Madison Hospital and to all of those who afford cars and services of any kind.
The Muth Family

WE WISH to express our thanks and deepest appreciation to the many friends and neighbors during the death of our beloved son and brother, Robert C. Dilgard. Also to Rev. John Gensel for his kind words and sympathy and for the Pinefrock funeral directors for their kind and efficient service.
Father, Mother, Brothers, Sisters.

WE WISH to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to our relatives, friends and neighbors for the sympathy, kindness and beautiful floral offerings extended at the sudden death of our daughter and sister, Ruth Marie Baum. Also to Msgr. Goebel for his consoling words and the Jones Funeral Home for their efficient services

Scots Go After More Tourists

Seek Additional Source of Revenue

GLASGOW — (AP) — Scotland is making its biggest play ever for American and European tourists.

Most of the big cities already are crying their summer and autumn attractions, confident that the fourth full postwar year will bring in visitors and money on a record breaking scale.

Sparking the drive is the Scottish council, representative of business, industry and labor, and backed by civic and cultural organizations. With Sir Steven Bilsland, financier and industrialist, as chairman, and headquarters in Glasgow, the council has set up a tourist board to publish and distribute information about Scotland, coordinate community efforts and develop entertainments.

"It is a vital part of our recovery program," Sir Steven said. "The more visitors we have the more our exchange position will be helped. The more the world knows of our industrial production the greater will be our opportunities for export.

"We think we can offer (visitors) something distinctive in the way of hospitality. We think they will be surprised by the diversity of our industries, the variety of life here despite the war-imposed constrictions."

The council is promoting a Scottish industries exhibition in Glasgow from September 1 to 17, which will be to Scotland what the British Industries fair, held annually in London, is to the nation as a whole.

Scots realize that in bidding for holiday crowds they suffer from competitive disadvantages. Summers are short and usually cool, and climate the year round is so damp that even home folks get irritable.

Resort boosters concentrate, therefore, on the fun to be had, shooting, fishing for salmon, and hiking in the highlands.

Scottish scenery is a good bet, even if it isn't dramatic in a spectacular way. Like water colors, it is soft in its shades and usually hazy. It is indisputably picturesque, and grows on the appreciation and imagination until it becomes exhilarating.

Starlings No Darlings for Washington's U. S. Buildings

WASHINGTON — (UP) — If a law will do it, maybe the nation's capital will get relief from the pesky starlings which have ruined the front of many buildings in town.

Goodness knows just about everything else has been tried.

Small boys carried balloons on strings to scare 'em away. But the birds popped the balloons with their bills and caw-cawed in glee

One outfit in town tried to sell the government bird-proof roofing. Slick, galvanized, slanted metal built on the theory that if a bird can't sit down it won't stick around.

One scientist appeared before a Congressional committee last session and seriously suggested starling birth control. He proposed feeding the birds in tin plans, floating kernels of corn in oil. His theory was that the mama starling would get her tail feathers oily and then go sit on her eggs. The oil, he said, would fill the porous places in the eggs and the birds-to-be would never live to be.

One cop on the beat, who had his troubles with the pests, spent a couple of years inventing a mechanical owl which was placed on one big government building. The owl flapped its wings electrically every once in awhile. The starlings would flee. But they came back and, when they learned to time the flaps, plucked the stuffed owl clean of its feathers. Nest material!

So now comes a law—Senate and so—introduced by Sen. J. Howard McGrath.

The senator's bill would make it lawful to haul off and kill a starling on sight—so long as you don't kill anything else.

FEPC Bill OK'd By 2-1 Committee Vote; To House Next Week

Petitions Reported In Offing

Would Submit Idea to Voters

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohioans with payrolls of more than 12 people soon may be prohibited from asking the race, color, creed, national origin or ancestry of job applicants. Nor will they be allowed to fire workers for reasons of discrimination.

That would be an unfair labor practice under an FEPC bill approved yesterday by the House Labor committee. The vote was 10 to 5 after hot debate.

It may come to a vote in the Democratic - controlled House of Represenatatives next week. Passage would send it to the Senate where Democrats are stronger.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche has endorsed the measure. Religious and labor spokesmen supported it at crowded hearings. Business interests opposed it.

Reports circulated that opponents considered getting up petitions to put the question up to all voters at the November election. Petitions bearing valid signatures of 6 percent of the voters would have to be filed before the law became effective 90 days after enactment.

That would suspend such an act until the election referendum. California voters rejected a similar FEPC proposal three to one, committee members said.

The FEPC measure came out of committee with only minor changes. The original exemption for employers with more than three workers was raised to 12.

Organizations could not file discrimination charges but workers bringing them could be represented by an attorney.

Employers whose workers sought to prevent them from complying with FEPC laws could plead for the right to abide by the statutes.

Attempts to require religious organizations not to discriminate in hiring or firing workers failed. They are exempt from the proposed FEPC act.

An attempt to require jury trials for FEPC violators also was defeated.

The recommended bill would:

Create a Fair Employment Practices commission (FEPC) of five to hear discrimination complaints. Members named by the governor and confirmed by the Senate would serve five years and get $25 a day and expenses while working.

Give commissioners the power to subpoena witnesses and records for hearings.

Allow them to ask courts to enforce their orders and penalties ranging to $1,000 fines and a year in jail for violations.

Forbid discrimination in hiring, firing, upgrading or other job functions.

Ban help-wanted ads or record files involving discrimination.

Prevent labor unions from membership discrimination.

'Wrong Child,' Mother Cries; Parents Sue

TOLEDO — (AP) — A couple sued a hospital and a doctor here yesterday for $100,000 on the charge they had been given the wrong baby.

The petition said Mrs. Alvin Colvin gave birth to a daughter April 12, 1948, in Riverside hospital and took a girl baby home with her the next day.

That evening her obstetrician, Dr. Abraham H. Steinberg, appeared at their home with another girl baby and a nurse and said the hospital had made a mistake, the petition said. It alleged the doctor took the first baby and left the second one.

The couple said they were suffering anguish because the baby they had was not theirs and they did not know where their own was.

Galion Auto Club Shows Large Map

Nation's Highways On Lighted Chart

GALION — People of this vicinity who purchase their automobile license plates at the Galion Automobile club headquarters, this year will have an opportunity to see the largest highway map in existence.

The large map which is 100 inches wide and 66½ inches deep, was secured by Grace Thomas, secretary of the club, from the American Automobile association, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Thomas had a large frame constructed around the map which is hanging on the west wall of the automobile club. The map will be illuminated by an electric bulb.

Printed in five colors, the map base is in dark blue, water in light blue, state boundaries in yellow, outlines of major cities and time zones in red, and national parks in green. The federal highways are indicated in heavier line than the state highways.

Along with the map, Mrs. Thomas has received an index book to 14,000 towns and cities located on the map.

PUT BROTHERHOOD INTO PRACTICE—High school students in Minneapolis fashioning costumes for a play to observe a religious holiday symbolize the anti-discrimination program that has won for the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul the 1949 citation of the National Conference of Christians and Jews as "the outstanding community in the United States in improvement of relations between religious and racial groups." The award was made in observance of Brotherhood week. School children present plays in observance of religious holiday without regard to whether they are Protestant, Catholic or Jewish.

150-Pounder Netted On Fishing Trip

Police Patrolmen Eloyd G. Bowers and Carl F. Berry took a quick fishing trip yesterday and came back with a 150-pounder.

Their catch a 33 - year - old Mt. Vernon man who leaned j-u-s-t a little too far over the cement rim of the Central Park pond.

As the patrolmen put it: "We fished out the man and then we fished the gold fish out of his pockets."

The sputtering an thoroughly soaked "catch" dried off in city jail while officers drew up an intoxication charge.

The "catch" is out on $11.60 bond today for his appearance in municipal court tomorrow to explain why he happened to be crowding the fish.

$1,000 Offered In News Contest

The Ohio Newspaper Women's association today announced $1,000 in prizes for this year's annual "Ohio Newspaperwomen of 1949" contest.

The top award, "Ohio Newspaperwoman, of 1949" will not carry any monetary award but the cash prizes will be given out in 10 other contests, contest co-chairman Marguerite Miller of The News-Journal staff said.

A trophy will go to the woman selected by a board of three out-of-state judges for the top honor, first of its kind in the organization's 47-year-old history. The honor award will go to one of the women first prize winners in the 10 other categories.

The 10 categories are: news, feature, interview, column, society, women's page, critical review, headline, section or department, and public service.

Police Officer Reported Better

Police Lt. William J. Taylor spent a better night and his condition is improved, a hospital attache reported today.

The police officer is not yet out of danger, it was reported. Taylor was seriously wounded Friday when two bullets from the gun of an East Fourth street man struck him in the abdomen. The man, Robert Dilgard, was killed by Patrolman Carl F. Berry in the fight.

Stocks Hit Lowest Level In Last Eleven Months

NEW YORK—(AP)—The general level of stock prices dropped to the lowest since last March today. The decline was the fifth in a row.

Key issues were chopped down a few cents to around $3 a share. Many sold at the cheapest price in a year or more.

Weakness was most pronounced among railroad shares. Wall Street sources reported that selling in this group was influenced by the heavy cost to western transportation systems of the crippling storms of January and February.

Talk of the possibility of a business recession, too, is rampant in the nation's financial headquarters. If business activity should slow down to any extent, it was suggested, the freight haulers of the country would be among the first to feel the pinch.

Land Suit Continued

Common Pleas Judge C. E. Kalbfleisch granted a three-day continuance yesterday afternoon in the suit brought by the City of Mansfield against the Mansfield Telephone company.

The city seeks to obtain a 60-foot right-of-way from East Fifth and Snyder streets to the Ashland road to extend East Fifth street. The telephone company is the owner of the land.

At the hearing, the telephone company represented by Marion D. Ward jr., said it would be willing to waive a hearing of the case by jury and submitting the evidence to a three-judge court.

City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch asked for the continuance in order to determine with city officials if they desire to waive a jury.

Blaze First One Reported In 85 Hours

A fire in an overstuffed chair brought firemen out on the first call in 85 hours this morning.

Central station crewmen went out at 9:13 a. m. today to put out the small fire at the home of D. C. Hoover, 151 Rae avenue.

The last alarm was at 7:16 p. m. Sunday when firemen from stations 2 and 4 answered a false alarm at Orange street and Third avenue. The last fire was at 1:36 Sunday when a horn wire burned off a car at East Third and Foster streets.

Undergoes Operation

Homer L. Bigbee, president of the Bellville bank and a Republican leader in Richland county, underwent an operation at General hospital this morning. Hospital attendants said Bigbee was "reacting normally" after the operation.

Overdue Parking Tickets Prove Costly to Motorists

It's cheaper to pay parking tickets promptly, three motorists found yesterday afternoon in municipal court.

The defendants, cited for failing to pay parking penalties were assessed an average of $2 per ticket in fines and costs.

Richard J. Bell, Mansfield, R. D. 6, was fined $4 and costs for overtime parking. Leo Varian, 198 South Main street was found guilty of a similar charge and paid $1 and costs.

For violation of a parking meter ordinance John Candelori, jr., 199 Rhein avenue paid $12 and costs. Court attaches said he had nine tickets.

Others fined by Judge H. H. Schettler for traffic violations were Glenn Harris, Ashland, R. D. 4, $10 and costs for failure to yield right of way; Rodney W. Swallie, DeSoto hotel; John H. Rhoads, 485 East Townview circle, and Helen L. Mentzer, Lexington each paid $10 and costs for speeding charges.

Seabees Get Service Medals

More than 125 persons attended a meeting of former Seabees and their families at the Naval Reserve Training center on Ashland road last night.

Lt. Commander John A. Smith, USNR, announced today that 51 Seabees were presented 141 service medals and clasps for their efforts in World War II.

The meeting was held to explain the Navy's plan to install a Seabee company here to include five reserve officers and 35 enlisted reserves in a regular drill status. As many officers and men who wish may be enrolled in an associated status. Meetings of the group will be held monthly.

Hold Two Meetings

A series of two cottage prayer meetings will be held this week by members of the Central Methodist church. The first will be held tonight at 7:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bishop, 767 Park avenue west. The second will take place tomorrow night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hill, 500 Sloane avenue.

Theater Play Well Received

The 600 Mansfielders who saw "A Murder Has Been Arranged" at the John Simpson auditorium last night, liked the play, according to comments following the performance. It was the season's second presentation of the Little Theater.

Action in the first act, which had lagged a little during the student night presentation, was stepped up considerably last night. The second and third acts had the audience applauding vigorously as the murder plot of the play got under way. Effectively adding to the weirdness of the plot were the eerie lights played on the stage under the supervision of DeWitt Frend, lighting expert.

The final performance will be given tonight at 8:15 p. m. under the direction of Earl Heasley.

Cracks Down On CIO Fight

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Safety Director Charles C. Cole today ordered police to crack down "in force" on what he called "terror tactics" at the strife-ridden American Zinc Oxide plant today.

Cole declared "this thing has gone too far."

The plant, outside the city limits, has been the scene of sporadic labor trouble since it was struck by a CIO union last Aug. 13.

Driver Held After Mishap

Frederick P. Griffin, 24, of 976 Grace street, has been cited to appear in municipal court Saturday on a charge of failing to observe a stop sign.

State patrolmen said Griffin's charge grew out of an accident at 6 p.m. yesterday at Bowman street road and the Taylor town road, six and a half miles north of Mansfield.

Patrolmen said Griffin, traveling east on the Taylor town road, failed to stop at a stop sign at the intersection and rammed the left side of a car driven by Dennis Gibson, 345 Springmill street, traveling north on the Bowman street road.

Mrs. Gibson, wife of the driver, was taken to Genral hospital for treatment for shock. She was released.

Committee Passes On Housing Bill

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate Banking committee today approved a broad multi-billion federal housing bill, 9 to 3. It is to be introduced in the Senate tomorrow as a bipartisan measure.

The action was announced by Chairman Maybank (D.-S. C.) following a closed door meeting of the committee.

FEPC Bill OK'd By 2-1 Committee Vote; To House Next Week

Petitions Reported In Offing

Would Submit Idea to Voters

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohioans with payrolls of more than 12 people soon may be prohibited from asking the race, color, creed, national origin or ancestry of job applicants. Nor will they be allowed to fire workers for reasons of discrimination.

That would be an unfair labor practice under an FEPC bill approved yesterday by the House Labor committee. The vote was 10 to 5 after hot debate.

It may come to a vote in the Democratic - controlled House of Represenatatives next week. Passage would send it to the Senate where Democrats are stronger.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche has endorsed the measure. Religious and labor spokesmen supported it at crowded hearings. Business interests opposed it.

Reports circulated that opponents considered getting up petitions to put the question up to all voters at the November election. Petitions bearing valid signatures of 6 percent of the voters would have to be filed before the law became effective 90 days after enactment.

That would suspend such an act until the election referendum. California voters rejected a similar FEPC proposal three to one, committee members said.

The FEPC measure came out of committee with only minor changes. The original exemption for employers with more than three workers was raised to 12.

Organizations could not file discrimination charges but workers bringing them could be represented by an attorney.

Employers whose workers sought to prevent them from complying with FEPC laws could plead for the right to abide by the statutes.

Attempts to require religious organizations not to discriminate in hiring or firing workers failed. They are exempt from the proposed FEPC act.

An attempt to require jury trials for FEPC violators also was defeated.

The recommended bill would:

Create a Fair Employment Practices commission (FEPC) of five to hear discrimination complaints. Members named by the governor and confirmed by the Senate would serve five years and get $25 a day and expenses while working.

Give commissioners the power to subpoena witnesses and records for hearings.

Allow them to ask courts to enforce their orders and penalties ranging to $1,000 fines and a year in jail for violations.

Forbid discrimination in hiring, firing, upgrading or other job functions.

Ban help-wanted ads or record files involving discrimination.

Prevent labor unions from membership discrimination.

CANTON — (AP) — An elderly woman was injured yesterday when a cold water storage tank exploded in her home. Physicians said Mrs. Grace Kleptach, 71, suffered a fractured vertebra and a broken ankle.

'Wrong Child,' Mother Cries; Parents Sue

TOLEDO — (AP) — A couple sued a hospital and a doctor here yesterday for $100,000 on the charge they had been given the wrong baby.

The petition said Mrs. Alvin Colvin gave birth to a daughter April 12, 1948, in Riverside hospital and took a girl baby home with her the next day.

That evening her obstetrician, Dr. Abraham H. Steinberg, appeared at their home with another girl baby and a nurse and said the hospital had made a mistake, the petition said. It alleged the doctor took the first baby and left the second one.

The couple said they were suffering anguish because the baby they had was not theirs and they did not know where their own was.

Galion Auto Club Shows Large Map

Nation's Highways On Lighted Chart

GALION — People of this vicinity who purchase their automobile license plates at the Galion Automobile club headquarters, this year will have an opportunity to see the largest highway map in existence.

The large map which is 100 inches wide and 66½ inches deep, was secured by Grace Thomas, secretary of the club, from the American Automobile association, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Thomas had a large frame constructed around the map which is hanging on the west wall of the automobile club. The map will be illuminated by an electric bulb.

Printed in five colors, the map base is in dark blue, water in light blue, state boundaries in yellow, outlines of major cities and time zones in red, and national parks in green. The federal highways are indicated in heavier line than the state highways.

Along with the map, Mrs. Thomas has received an index book to 14,000 towns and cities located on the map.

150-Pounder Netted On Fishing Trip

Police Patrolmen Eloyd G. Bowers and Carl F. Berry took a quick fishing trip yesterday and came back with a 150-pounder.

Their catch a 33 - year - old Mt. Vernon man who leaned j-u-s-t a little too far over the cement rim of the Central Park pond.

As the patrolmen put it: "We fished out the man and then we fished the gold fish out of his pockets."

The sputtering an thoroughly soaked "catch" dried off in city jail while officers drew up an intoxication charge.

The "catch" is out on $11.60 bond today for his appearance in municipal court tomorrow to explain why he happened to be crowding the fish.

$1,000 Offered In News Contest

The Ohio Newspaper Women's association today announced $1,000 in prizes for this year's annual "Ohio Newspaperwomen of 1949" contest.

The top award, "Ohio Newspaperwoman of 1949" will not carry any monetary award but the cash prizes will be given out in 10 other contests, contest co-chairman Marguerite Miller of The News-Journal staff said.

A trophy will go to the woman selected by a board of three out-of-state judges for the top honor, first of its kind in the organization's 47-year-old history. The honor award will go to one of the women first prize winners in the 10 other categories.

The 10 categories are: news, feature, interview, column, society, women's page, critical review, headline, section or department, and public service.

Police Officer Reported Better

Police Lt. William J. Taylor spent a better night and his condition is improved, a hospital attache reported today.

The police officer is not yet out of danger, it was reported. Taylor was seriously wounded Friday when two bullets from the gun of an East Fourth street man struck him in the abdomen. The man, Robert Dilgard, was killed by Patrolman Carl F. Berry in the fight.

PUT BROTHERHOOD INTO PRACTICE—High school students in Minneapolis fashioning costumes for a play to observe a religious holiday symbolize the anti-discrimination program that has won for the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul the 1949 citation of the National Conference of Christians and Jews as "the outstanding community in the United States in improvement of relations between religious and racial groups." The award was made in observance of Brotherhood week. School children present plays in observance of religious holiday without regard to whether they are Protestant, Catholic or Jewish.

Stocks Hit Lowest Level In Last Eleven Months

NEW YORK—(AP)—The general level of stock prices dropped to the lowest since last March today. The decline was the fifth in a row.

Key issues were chopped down a few cents to around $3 a share. Many sold at the cheapest price in a year or more.

Weakness was most pronounced among railroad shares. Wall Street sources reported that selling in this group was influenced by the heavy cost to western transportation systems of the crippling storms of January and February.

Talk of the possibility of a business recession, too, is rampant in the nation's financial headquarters. If business activity should slow down to any extent, it was suggested, the freight haulers of the country would be among the first to feel the pinch.

Common Pleas Judge C. E. Kalbfleisch granted a three-day continuance yesterday afternoon in the suit brought by the City of Mansfield against the Mansfield Telephone company.

The city seeks to obtain a 60-foot right-of-way from East Fifth and Snyder streets to the Ashland road to extend East Fifth street. The telephone company is the owner of the land.

At the hearing, the telephone company represented by Marion D. Ward jr., said it would be willing to waive a hearing of the case by jury and submitting the evidence to a three-judge court.

City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch asked for the continuance in order to determine with city officials if they desire to waive a jury.

Blaze First One Reported In 85 Hours

A fire in an overstuffed chair brought firemen out on the first call in 85 hours this morning.

Central station crewmen went out at 9:13 a. m. today to put out the small fire at the home of D. C. Hoover, 151 Rae avenue.

The last alarm was at 7:16 p. m. Sunday when firemen from stations 2 and 4 answered a false alarm at Orange street and Third avenue. The last fire was at 1:36 Sunday when a horn wire burned off a car at East Third and Foster streets.

Undergoes Operation

Homer L. Bigbee, president of the Bellville bank and a Republican leader in Richland county, underwent an operation at General hospital this morning. Hospital attendants said Bigbee was "reacting normally" after the operation.

Overdue Parking Tickets Prove Costly to Motorists

It's cheaper to pay parking tickets promptly, three motorists found yesterday afternoon in municipal court.

The defendants, cited for failing to pay parking penalties were assessed an average of $2 per ticket in fines and costs.

Richard J. Bell, Mansfield, R. D. 6, was fined $4 and costs for overtime parking. Leo Varian, 198 South Main street was found guilty of a similar charge and paid $1 and costs.

For violation of a parking meter ordinance John Candelori, jr., 199 Rhein avenue paid $12 and costs. Court attaches said he had nine tickets.

Others fined by Judge H. H. Schettler for traffic violations were Glenn Harris, Ashland, R. D. 4, $10 and costs for failure to yield right of way; Rodney W. Swallie, DeSoto hotel; John H. Rhoads, 485 East Townview circle, and Helen L. Mentzer, Lexington each paid $10 and costs for speeding charges.

Seabees Get Service Medals

More than 125 persons attended a meeting of former Seabees and their families at the Naval Reserve Training center on Ashland road last night.

Lt. Commander John A. Smith, USNR, announced today that 51 Seabees were presented 141 service medals and clasps for their efforts in World War II.

The meeting was held to explain the Navy's plan to install a Seabee company here to include five reserve officers and 35 enlisted reserves in a regular drill status. As many officers and men who wish may be enrolled in an associated status. Meetings of the group will be held monthly.

Hold Two Meetings

A series of two cottage prayer meetings will be held this week by members of the Central Methodist church. The first will be held tonight at 7:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bishop, 767 Park avenue west. The second will take place tomorrow night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hill, 500 Sloane avenue.

Theater Play Well Received

The 600 Mansfielders who saw "A Murder Has Been Arranged" at the John Simpson auditorium last night, liked the play, according to comments following the performance. It was the season's second presentation of the Little Theater.

Action in the first act, which had lagged a little during the student night presentation, was stepped up considerably last night. The second and third acts had the audience applauding vigorously as the murder plot of the play got under way. Effectively adding to the weirdness of the plot were the eerie lights played on the stage under the supervision of DeWitt Frend, lighting expert.

The final performance will be given tonight at 8:15 p. m. under the direction of Earl Heasley.

Cracks Down On CIO Fight

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Safety Director Charles C. Cole today ordered police to crack down "in force" on what he called "terror tactics" at the strife-ridden American Zinc Oxide plant today.

Cole declared "this thing has gone too far."

The plant, outside the city limits, has been the scene of sporadic labor trouble since it was struck by a CIO union last Aug. 13.

Driver Held After Mishap

Frederick P. Griffin, 24, of 976 Grace street, has been cited to appear in municipal court Saturday on a charge of failing to observe a stop sign.

State patrolmen said Griffin's charge grew out of an accident at 6 p.m. yesterday at Bowman street road and the Taylor town road, six and a half miles north of Mansfield.

Patrolmen said Griffin, traveling east on the Taylor town road, failed to stop at a stop sign at the intersection and rammed the left side of a car driven by Dennis Gibson, 345 Springmill street, traveling north on the Bowman street road.

Mrs. Gibson, wife of the driver, was taken to Genral hospital for treatment for shock. She was released.

Committee Passes On Housing Bill

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate Banking committee today approved a broad multi-billion federal housing bill, 9 to 3. It is to be introduced in the Senate tomorrow as a bipartisan measure.

The action was announced by Chairman Maybank (D.-S. C.) following a closed door meeting of the committee.

It is now beginning to appear that only the name of the Taft-Hartley law need be repealed to make it fairly satisfactory.

One authority says there are 19 million germs in every sneeze—which is probably no more than an estimate instead of an exact count.

Latest explanation of the November election outcome, which is still being "analyzed," is that Dewey was supported by "the wrong people"—21,896,927 of them, which seems like an awful lot to be wrong.

Eisenhower's Warning To Students

A TREND of thought which leads to the slackening of individual effort and an increasing dependence upon government for sustenance can lead to a situation which only a dictator can handle, according to General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

As president of Columbia University, the general spoke to a group of high school and prep school students who had been attending a three-day forum on democracy at Columbia. The speaker cited the days of his own youth, when security as such was seldom mentioned, but the opportunity for personal achievement was always present. This opportunity, he said, was based on "the free system that gives the right to every citizen to do something for himself".

For contrast, he pointed out that a people's growing dependence upon governmental agencies gives rise to a continuing growth of bureaucracies. Finally a point is reached when only a dictator can handle the situation.

Young people coming of age now would do well to heed the general's words. Freedom and responsibility represent stronger and better concepts than do safety and security. The time-honored American sturdiness of character must not be allowed to slacken into spineless subservience.

When Truman Speaks His Thoughts

IT IS REGRETTABLE, during this observance of National Brotherhood week, that two such distinguished persons as Harry S. Truman, President of the United States, and Drew Pearson, high-standing writer and long-time observer of the national scene, should provide an example of difficulties encountered in efforts to strengthen the bonds of brotherhood in this country and throughout the world.

It is peculiarly shocking, in view of President Truman's Baptist affiliation and Mr. Pearson's Quaker faith, that anything other than the greatest of friendliness and understanding should exist between these exemplars of brotherhood, and use of the initials, "S. O. B.", by Mr. Truman in what is regarded as a reference to Mr. Pearson is remindful of language of the Pendergast days, rather than a part of the vocabulary of the President of the United States.

It is noteworthy that when the White House issued a transcript of Mr. Truman's talk at a dinner given in honor of his recently appointed military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, the opprobrious designation, "S. O. B.", had been deleted and "anyone" substituted, indicating that some of those around the President realize his need for guidance in the choice of words.

Just why, if the President felt inclined to refer to a fellow-American as a "S. O. B.", he didn't use the words instead of the initials, is not clear—although possibly because there were gentlemen present.

The incident recalls the dramatic gambling room scene in Owen Wister's popular novel, "The Virginian," with the well-remembered remark, "When you say that, smile."

Return of 'Buyers' Market' Seen

ACCORDING to a survey, many retail stores are increasing their promotional efforts this year. That means that still more effort will be devoted to seeking the good will and patronage of the buying public.

In all but a few fields, the buyers' market is back and shortages are a thing of the past. The "easy money" spending spree has lost most of its momentum, and people want full value for what they spend.

This has led to more aggressive competition among stores of all sizes and types, and to an even greater realization on the part of merchants that their future depends on how well consumers are served.

A situation such as this can exist only in a free market, where no one has a monopoly on the business, where anyone can go into retail trade if he chooses, and where every consumer is free to take his trade where he will.

Reasons Given For Heavy Fire Losses

FIRE had a great year in 1948. It destroyed property worth more than $711,000,000 for a new all-time record. It brought the total of destruction for the past ten years to nearly $4,500,000,000.

Experts give various reasons for the toll. Property values have increased, there has been a greater concentration of values, and the occupancy rate of buildings has been abnormally high.

Overloading and overcrowding has caused a rapid obsolescence in many heating plants and electrical circuits. New industrial processes have come into use without adequate safeguards. Communities have been growing faster than their fire departments, and industry has expanded into areas where fire protection and water supplies are not up to par.

But back of 90 per cent of all fires was the human element. Someone was careless.

Claude Callan confesses what seems to be a quite common ailment; "We really don't know what we are politically. When we have a little money we feel that we are a conservative, but when we get in this shape we feel radical."

A Problem In Overgrazing.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

President's Advisers Don't Think Alike

'WAY BACK in the years when this writer was a member of the first Roosevelt administration, the term "presidential advisers" was used to characterize an indeterminate group of people who had more or less casual access to the President. Some were regularly employed in the government, but had a sort of privileged access to the President.

Presidential advisers in Roosevelt's time were constantly changing, according to the capricious moods and interests of the President.

Some advisers, like Baruch, had no official status at all in those days, and their advice was taken or left alone, as the President wished.

It become clear, even in those days, that the cabinet and such people as the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, traditionally known as presidential advisers, had ceased to have much advisory status.

As department heads, they were busy men. They hardly had continuous access to the President. Cabinet meetings were usually perfunctory affairs, with the President and two or three people doing all the talking. There has always been real need for people immediately accessible to the President who have no administrative duties and who have time to think rather than act.

PRESIDENTIAL advisers, however, must adapt themselves to several conditions not entirely compatible with cold scientific research. A President must balance many interests. He must veer from left to right. He must set his sails to variable political winds.

He must use advisers not altogether to tell him what to do, but to give him facts and arguments to justify various and often contradictory policies. Hence, there must be advisers of the left, of the right, and of the middle of the road.

It was a grandiose scheme which brought about the creation of present Council of Economic Advisers in 1946. Advisers were to have official status, salaries, offices and facilities for research. They were given the job of long-time predictions—a job which no one could do with much success.

In selecting his council, President Truman has sought a balance. Since things seemed to be veering to the right two years ago, the chairmanship of the council went to Professor E. G. Nourse, a Republican with moderately conservative views.

To balance him, there is Leon Keyserling, a former assistant to Senator Wagner and a man with leftist leanings.

In the theoretical middle is John D. Clark, a former professor and a Democrat. Clark is supposed to represent the moderate ground. In fact, his position seems to be whatever the Truman policies represent at any given time.

Hence, when the question arises about what the President's advisers think about this or that, it is well to ask, "Which advisers?" And when we try to predict the course of public policy by peering into the minds of the advisers, we must remember that the President may select the advice that fits his needs. He has, in short, a wide range of selection.

It has been apparent since the election that the Keyserling side has become stronger than the Nourse influence. And it has been apparent, too, that far from being a mere privy council for the President, the advisers are speaking openly to Congress and the public and are engaged in selling their views, however divergent they may be.

Washington Calling

Can Eisenhower Do It?

By MARQUIS CHILDS

FLASHING across the Washington sky these days are all sorts of mysterious shapes. Flying wings, super-duper jet jobs, round-the-world bombers streak across the capital and the gaping congressman has a feeling of being whirled along in the revolution of the air age.

It doesn't matter, of course, if there is only one of these spectacular jobs straight off the designing board of a poetic designer. Wrapped up in a press release or a speech telling how much faster than the speed of light it can travel, one makes as big a jolt as a hundred.

In the rivalry between the three services for funds and favor from Congress, the ability of the air force to startle and surprise is the subject of bitter recrimination from both the Navy and the Army.

That rivalry rarely has been more acute than it is today, 19 months after the services had theoretically been unified by law.

Thins is the real significance behind the drafting of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to serve as a kind of umpire over the disputes and differences that separate the three branches of our national defense. The hope is that General Eisenhower will establish the pattern of an impartial chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Only on the urgent plea of Secretary of Defense James Forrestal did General Eisenhower finally consent to come to Washington on this assignment. He had begun to establish himself as the practical, working head of Columbia university and gradually he was freeing himself of the constant demand for public speeches and appearances.

But the urgency of the task outweighed any personal desires. The hope is that General Eisenhower can make the difficult and often unpleasant decisions that have long been postponed.

* * *

An Uneasy Feeling.

BECAUSE vital decisions have been postponed, increasing uncertainty and uneasiness have grown up within the services. The effect of delay and of ever more acute competition for congressional and public favor has been hardest in the department of the army.

A foot soldier slogs through the mud, he doesn't flash across the sky in a guided missile aimed at the moon. That conscientious soldier, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chief of staff of the Army, had come to feel himself pretty much boxed in by the spectacular competition. According to his friends, he had begun seriously to wonder whether he could continue to serve effectively as chief of staff.

To show off their newest surprises the air force recently put on a big show at Andrews Field near here. President Truman and influential members of the Senate and House were honored guests.

Sen. Millard Tydings, chairman of the Senate armed services committee, gave a remarkable demonstration of the dizzying influence of such potent propaganda.

Getting his planes mixed up, Senator Tydings, in an interview made claims for the B-36 bomber which apply to a new bomber scarcely off the drawing board.

Continuing research and development in the air are essential to national security. But it is also essential to realize that promise is not performance and to confuse fantasy and fact is extremely dangerous. To equip every congressman with a jet-propelled broomstick and a jet-propelled imagination is hardly the way to get balanced rearmament.

Dave Boone Says:

REPORTS from Washington say that at the conference between Secretary Acheson and Senators Vandenberg and Connally on the North Atlantic Pact these two things were agreed on:

1 — The pact should not imply any automatic obligation to use armed forces against an aggressor.

2—The language of the pact need not necessarily exclude a reference to the possibility of the use of armed forces if necessary.

* * *

That rates an Oscar for pussyfooting, a medal for the best double-talk of 1949 and the annual beat-around-the-bush ribbon.

* * *

Uncle Sam can't go to war without a declaration from Congress, regardless of pacts, and it's hard to see why there should be anything but straight talk about it.

* * *

The other nations know it. But Uncle Sam's rep for keeping a promise, fighting aggressors, and coming to the rescue of Europe and Asia should look pretty dependable to them, just the same. He's never been a goosegrease boy whose signature had to be on the dotted line to make sure he wouldn't take a "runout powder."

Ireland Refuses to Participate In Pact

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — All the diplomats in Dublin can't persuade pugnacious, little Ireland to join the North Atlantic Pact—if it means signing up as an ally of Great Britain.

This has been made clear in simple, blistering Irish.

Writing to members of the Senate foreign relations committee, Irish Minister Sean Nunan explained bluntly that his government couldn't enter "any military alliance involving joint military action with the state which was responsible for the partition of Ireland (and) which continues to occupy a portion of the country with its armed force."

In red-pepper language, Nunan continued: "No Irish government could possibly expect to find the necessary support for a policy involving military alliance with a power that continues to lend sanction, tacit or active, to evils of the very kind which it is the objective of the proposed North Atlantic Pact to oppose and prevent."

Capital News Capsules.

Division in Moscow—Uncensored diplomatic dispatches now report at least two distinct cleavages inside the Soviet Politburo. The 14 Soviet leaders are split over "war or peace." A number of the younger men around Stalin and Molotov think war will come this summer because the United States is headed for a depression. But another faction is eager for U. S. appeasement because American public opinion has become so strongly anti-Russian.

Soviet Nosiness — The Russian news agency, Tass, has been asking frequent questions around the army and navy departments. The latest so-called news story, which Tass has been snooping after, is the Air Force's specifications for high octane gasoline. Believe it or not, but Uncle Sam's big-hearted policy is to give the Russians whatever information they want—as long as it isn't officially classified as secret.

Bolstering China — The inside reason why ex-Mayor Roger Lapham of San Francisco suddenly rushed to Washington from China is that Lapham, now Marshall Plan administrator for China, believes he can make the Nationalist government hold out. Lapham wants to set up the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa, which the communists could not invade and which would be supplied with Marshall Plan aid. Formosa might later become a permanent American base. General MacArthur is 100 per cent for Lapham's plan.

Discussion On Pact.

IN a secret huddle with Secy. of State Acheson the Senate foreign relations committee the other day explored every comma and semicolon in the North Atlantic Pact. This is the important alliance that could plunge the United States into war if one of the European democracies should be attacked by Russia.

Although the senators were pledged to strict secrecy, here are the highlights of that important meeting: Acheson promised to write into the pact a clear and expressed provision that this country cannot go to war without following the constitutional processes.

This means it will still be up to Congress to declare war. However, the state department will assure the world that a solemn treaty, ratified by Congress, can be taken as a strong warning that Congress will act.

Although the exact wording hasn't been decided, the pact will state essentially that aggression against any of the signatory nations will be considered as aggression against them all.

Some senators, led by Massachusetts' Henry Cabot Lodge, wanted the pact even more ironclad. On the other hand the question was raised whether a statement by the President wouldn't do just as well, warning that aggression against the Western democracies would be considered an unfriendly act toward this country. The idea would be to lay down a Monroe Doctrine for Europe.

Arkansas' Senator William Fulbright asked whether civil war, incited by the communists, would be considered as aggression since our own country was born by revolution.

Florida's Senator Claude Pepper, on the other hand, expressed worry over setting a precedent of regional alliances. He wanted to know whether other alliances in the Far East and Mediterranean might follow and tear the heart out of the United Nations.

These and other questions were left partly in the air. So much of the time was exhausted over technical points, such as whether the word "any" should be considered singular or plural, that Senator Fulbright finally pleaded that they get on to the main issue.

'Amazing', You'll Say

By INEZ ROBB

HOUSTON—In any other community, Glenn McCarthy would be regarded as a red-wheeled boy wonder.

Even this community, case-hardened to phenomenal success stories, regards master McCarthy with respect as a humdinger, a go-getter, a ball of fire and a candy kid.

Also, as Midas, jr., the lad with the golden touch.

McCarthy, 41, even by Houston standards is a fabulously "rich" millionaire. He said today that he could not remember when he made his first million. Nor would he attempt to estimate how many millions he now has.

This, big, handsome Irishman, almost unknown outside Houston and his native Texas, has at least $100,000,000 in a dazzling variety of enterprises.

"Couservatively speaking" — and that is the Texan's favorite phrase—that's the estimate.

But for all McCarthy or Houston know, the fortune may be twice that size. Sometimes the money pours in too fast to count.

McCarthy is as typical of this generation of Texas multimillionaires as "Mr. Jesse" Jones is of the old group, whose fortunes were solidly founded in timber, cotton and real estate long before black gold was discovered in such tumultuous quantities beneath the Texas terrain.

The McCarthy fortune is founded on oil riches and his story is typical of the rags-to-riches and back again saga of the oil fields.

I sat in his huge office in a skyscraper which he owns (natch!) and was confounded by a Texan who is neither expansive, verbose nor jolly.

Master McCarthy is the exception who proves the rule for both (1) Texans, and (2) Irishmen. It apparently is no laughing matter to round up such a garantuan fortune, especially in eight years' time, for McCarthy did not really strike it rich until 1940.

The Houston phenom gazed at me with such cold, shrewd and narrow eyes that I am sure he was able to assay the gold in my inlays and count my vertebrae to ascertain if I had the standard number.

I have a feeling that he can gaze at any terrain and see instantly if oil lies 1,000 fathoms deep, although this he laconically denied.

* * *

"Educated" In a Way.

FROM this gent who deals 'em so close to the vest, I finally dragged the information that he was born poor but honest, on Christmas day, 1907. His father was an oil driller in the famous Spindletop field, one of Texas' first.

"I got a working knowledge of oil drilling and producing there," he said, in what, for McCarthy, is a lengthy statement.

During vacations from public schools in Beaumont and Houston, from the Allen academy at Bryan, Texas, and from Tulane University, Texas A. and M. and Rice institute, he worked as a roughneck and roustabout in the oil fields.

"Three universities but no degree," McCarthy said.

"That takes genius," I suggested.

McCarthy looked at me suspiciously. He allowed himself the ghost of a grin and said:

"No one ever put it that way before." In the best classic tradition, he waited on tables in each of the three universities to help support himself.

In 1933, when he was 26, McCarthy went into the oil business for himself.

"I was known as 'the boy driller,'" he conceded.

The first well he brought in was a duster. In those first years, the dusters turned up as regularly as the producing wells.

He was, the nearest anyone can learn, an old man of 28 before he made his first million in the Anahauc field.

It was not until 1940, when he was all of 33, that McCarthy really struck it rich in the fabulous League City oil fields. Since then there has been no stopping the flow of oil and Irish luck.

And, of course, the fact he married beautiful Faustine Lee, heiress to an old Texas oil fortune, has been no handicap.

McCarthy is a young man in a hurry. Since the war, he has been riding off in all financial directions at once, from radio to aviation.

His fellow citizens regard him with pride and speculation. In another decade he can either be the king-pin of the southwest or the brokest man in Texas.

That's what makes oil so fascinating. Or so Texans say—conservatively speaking.

Farmer's Diary

Gift of Companionship

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I PARKED my car near an intersection. An old man with a cane, who was crossing the street cautiously, drew my attention because — except that he was taller—he reminded me of my father.

He had a kindly, interesting face that seemed to await a spark of consideration to kindle it to vitality. The wind caught his long white beard, and he held his palsied hand across it, looking hesitantly both ways before he went a step farther.

"That wind's a bit sharp," I ventured, as he came up.

"'Tis so," he said, and stopped. "But Ohio can't complain when the West's snowed under."

We moved on, together. "I've just come from the library," he said. "I often spend my day there. The current magazines are so interesting—and I like to watch the folks come and go. Forty years ago, when I was working in a machine shop, I used to wish I had time to read. Now I've got it."

He shivered in the wind and I pitied him. On the window of a little store I noticed a coffee sign. "Let's go in here and have a cup of coffee," I suggested. "I have a few minutes to wait, so we needn't hurry."

His smile was broad and genial. I glimpsed the man he had been forty years ago. "Thanks—that's be nice."

We went in and found a booth. The coffee was really good—hot and brown and fragrant. We conversed most enjoyably for a half hour or so.

He looked at me sharply as we put down our cups and prepared to leave. "I have nothing to give you in return for this fine social feast," he said.

"An old man who has lived his years well has much to give," I told him. "He has wisdom and time for reflection. You have given me respect, tolerance, even inspiration. A man can always give his heart to a child—or do something that will make the sun shine for another. The whole world is richer for wise gifts of companionship from every man."

"Kind words will never die," he mused. "Well, well—I do thank you for the coffee, and all."

He went one way and I the other. Both of us walked briskly and felt chipper. The wind was not really so cold.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THE NAVY captain disciplined for speaking rudely of Sen. Kilgore is a hero of several battles but this was his first engagement with a Democrat.

* * *

Ex-commander Hugh Scott could have told him there's a difference between shooting the big guns of democracy and shooting at the big shots of the Democrats.

* * *

Scott will be remembered as the Republican national chairman who trained in Iceland with the Navy and still couldn't put a chill on the Democrats' land forces.

* * *

I see Shostakovich is coming over here to whip up a peace plan if he can get clearance from President Truman and President Petrillo.

Timely Editorial

Meaningless Stamps.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg deserves public support in his proposal to stem the flood of special postage stamps which has all but made the commemorative value of such issues meaningless.

During 1948 no less than 29 commemorative issues were put out in a bewildering assortment of shapes, designs and colors. Besides events of genuine historic importance, others were dignified which were of interest only to the tiniest segment of the public.

The prestige of the United States government ought not to be so indiscriminately bestowed that when an occasion of real importance comes up for commemoration, the public will not merely glance at the special stamp without interest or appreciation of the purpose for which it was designed.—Columbus Dispatch.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How's Your Listening Time?

Buck Howell and I were in Baleville last week. Dropped in at Bob's diner where some friends were sitting around talking about whether to sell hogs now or wait.

Buck plunges right into the discussion. He's lecturing away when suddenly they all stand up and start stomping their feet like it was an Indian war dance.

I'm flabbergasted. But Buck only looked sheepish and explains, "Guess I was talking again, when I should-of been listening. When a person's talking time gets out of line with his listening time around here, the gang reminds him by standing up and stomping."

From where I sit, that's a good system. Everyone has a right to his opinions—but others have a right to theirs, too—whether it's deciding between to sell or not to sell, apple pie or cherry pie, or a glass of mellow beer or cider. Life's more interesting that way, and hang it if you don't sometimes learn something!

Meat Prices Boosted In Past Week

Ranchers Ignore Glutted Market

(By Associated Press)

Housewives found higher price tags on several meats and vegetables at favorite stores this week.

Many beef items were up 4 to 10 cents a pound from last week in highly competitive chain stores across the country. Pork cuts advanced an average of 6 cents a pound.

Grade "A" eggs were up a penny or two a dozen. String beans advanced as much as 10 cents a pound in several cities, and tomatoes were a few cents higher.

The only meat to show a general downward trend was veal, which was marked down 4 to 10 cents a pound by several large chains.

In New York, one chain announced it was cutting evaporated milk a penny a can following wholesale reductions of 35 cents per case of 48 cans by three major manufacturers. That brought the retail price in New York to 27 cents for two cans.

Meat buyers attributed the beef and pork advances to a firm wholesale market resulting from fewer livestock receipts. They said livestock men, disappointed by recent low prices, apparently were holding back animal shipments.

The reduction in veal prices was described as an overdue reflection of last week's decline in other meat items. One major buyer said veal had encountered considerable consumer resistance and was "still too high-priced" at the wholesale level to compete favorably with beef and pork.

High string bean prices resulted from a seasonal "between-crops" shortage, produce men said. The Florida crop is about finished and the markets now are awaiting shipments from Texas and California which have been delayed by unfavorable weather.

The recent freezes in growing areas were said to be responsible for somewhat lower retail prices of carrots and beets.

"That cold weather turned carrot and beet tops brown," a Department of Agriculture produce spokesman said. "That didn't harm the vegetables themselves, but shoppers avoid them even if the discolored greens are to be trimmed off."

STILL BUSY—Mrs. Leah Maxwell's work goes on despite the halt in induction of draftees.

Draft Board's Work Continues Despite Moratorium On Calls

You won't get a letter from the selective service department soon with an enclosure on which the word "greeting" is printed, but that doesn't mean you are not being classified, registered, checked, filed, and questionaired.

The draft board's work goes on as Mrs. Leah S. Maxwell, the board's clerk, can testify, though probably no calls will be made until April.

In her second floor office of the Memorial building at 34 Park avenue west, Mrs. Maxwell has 5,704 Richland county men registered. All must be "questionaired" and their changes of address as well as other information that may affect their classifications must be noted on their files.

The average monthly number of registrants is 75. This includes men being discharged from the service as well as men just reaching 18.

In addition the registering, filing, questionairing, and keeping classification records, Mrs. Maxwell answers all inquiries made to the board, established the office system and sends frequent reports to selective service headquarters in Columbus.

Little 'Bugs' Show Science Way to Ocean Oil Deposits

LA JOLLA, Cal., — (UP) — Tiny "bugs" of the deep seas are leading science to pools of oil deposits that may keep the world supplied with fuel for many thousands of years.

These "bugs" are microscopic bacteria that grow by the millions in the muck at the bottom of the ocean. Some are known to have a capacity to release oil, others to attack oil substances.

In either event, according to Dr. Claude E. Zobell, associate professor of microbiology at the Scripps institute of Oceanography which is part of the University of California, the bacteria definitely provide new clues to the location of oil deposits. It generally is believed that there is far more oil below the seas and oceans than there is in the land areas.

Already, according to Dr. Zobell, preliminary tests have shown there must be oil deposits off the Coast of Venezuela, in the gulf of California and the Gulf of Mexico. One day, skippers of ships in those areas may have to dodge oil derricks.

The American Petroleum institute is making annual cash grants to help Dr. Zobell's project and soon is expected to announce the awarding of more money to speed up the program.

The institute here is one of the nation's two top laboratories on oceanography, the other being at Woods Hole, Mass., which "covers" the Atlantic ocean.

Bromfield Will Continue Living at Ohio Malabar Farm

Plans Only Visits to Texas Unit

Experiments With Self-Feeders Set

By ROBERT SCHWEITZ

Louis Bromfield will still make his home at his Ohio Malabar farm despite his announcement Sunday of a new project in Texas.

Interviewed at his model farm yesterday, the author-farmer said that he will be at the 411-acre tract near Wichita Falls only one third of the year, and that scattered over a number of brief visits.

The announcement of the new farm was made by Bromfield and his partner Bob Huge when the site was finally selected. The author said that the Ohio Malabar "no longer challenges our agricultural resourcefulness," hence his taking on the new project.

Bromfield told the News-Journal that he plans many innovations in crops and farm techniques at the Wichita Malabar.

One of them is a dairy farm operated on a program for greater profit with less labor than can be managed on the Ohio farm. Cattle can graze 10 months out of the year in Texas as compared with the six months in Ohio. He plans to use self feeding as much as possible. There will be a trench silo with the silage made in the trench itself. This type of silo can have a greater capacity and is cheaper than the old type tower structure. The diary farm will also aid in the development of new processing plants for dairy products.

Bromfield said he will put up the latest kind of housing and barns. The houses will be of cement and tile construction because they are more durable and cheaper than wood, he pointed out. He said further that there will be no bother with termites and will be no need of painting the structures.

The author will bring some of the grass mixtures he has tried at the Lucas farm to Texas. He explained that some of them have never before been grown in that part of the country.

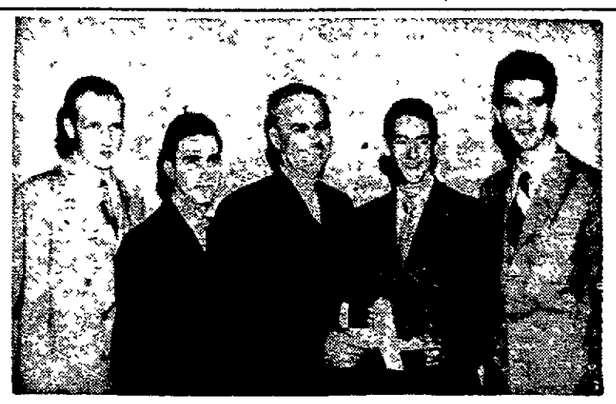
He will also bring the multi flora rose hedge to Texas for the first time. It will be used as a windbreaker and cattle fence.

One of the chief problems Bromfield will have to contend with is the high alkali contend of the soil. Three hundred acres of the land have been under poorly managed irrigation, he reported, and the soil has become water logged. He plans to use as little irrigation as possible and will try also to conserve the natural moisture of the soil.

The new Malabar sets up problems directly opposite to the ones Bromfield faced when he came to the Ohio farm new near Lucas in 1938.

There had been soil erosion, water run off, hilly land, and the soil needed a restoration of fertility when he began. He solved all these problems and is anxious to tackle new ones

The Texas Malabar's soil is extremely rich, the land is flat, and there is scarce rather than too abundant rainfall. In addition he will have to cope with extremely high temperatures in the summer.



GETS DIPLOMA—George Christoff, Mansfield, is among the aeronautical engineers who have received their diplomas from Cal-Aero Technical institute, in Glendale, Calif. The group is shown checking a model of a school designed jet plane with Chief Engineer John Dickinson. Gets Diploma In Engineering

George R. Christoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Christoff, 258 Bowman Street, has received his aeronautical engineering diploma from Cal-Aero Technical institute and plans to accept a position with a Southern California aircraft manufacturing firm.

Having completed the two-year engineering, course, covering basic engineering, principles of structures, aerodynamics, and the design of the airplane as a whole, the young engineer is qualified for positions in the fields of analysis and design.

A graduate of Mansfield Senior High school, Christoff is a veteran of service with the Army Air Forces as an aerial gunner on B-17 Bombers, and was also a prisoner of war in Germany.

Bromfield believes it will take him three to four years to get Wichita Malabar on a high productive basis.

Co-Op Elects On March 3

The annual business meeting of the Richland Farm Bureau Co-operative association will be held March 3, 7:45 p. m. at the Madison township school, it was announced today by J. Arnold Burkhart, manager of the Richland association.

Morriss Allton, assistant director of the state Farm Bureau's legislation department, will be the speaker.

Two directors for the organization will be elected at the meeting to replace Gaylord Culler and J. R. Lawrence, who's terms have expired.

Those nominated to fill the vacancies are Clifton Balliett, Max McFarland, H. K. Lehnhart and Gaylord Culler.

The financial report of the association for the fiscal year of 1948 will be presented by Burkhart.

Entertainment will be provided by Tex Foreman's band.

Soft Dress Shoe Is In

Historical forerunner of the soft shoe is the ballet slipper, which grew overnight from a playshoe to an important American fashion. These same characteristics are now found in a daytime shoe, built with little or no toe boxing and miniscule counter construction a shoe that is as soft and comforming as a glove and as completely flexible.

Shoes have the oldest sizing story in the world. Because the health and disposition of the wearer depends upon the fit of a shoe, an enormous amount of scientific study has gone into shoe making.

Shoe sizes were established by decree by Edward 2nd, King of England, as far back as 1324. Variations in size were measured on a one-third" basis. Since then there have been infinite refinements and improvements in the science of precise sizing for precise comfort, but the size-to-size method of determining measurements remains one-third" and shoes come in as many as 166 different sizes. Today, these studies have culminated in shoes that are dressed to the hilt, but have all the comfort of the proverbial "old shoe". This spring, this new soft shoe construction is still limited-but Glamour predicts that it will be widely accepted by fall 1949.

Add a little cinnamon or mace to whipped cream that is to top apple pie or peach dumplings.

GUEST SPEAKER

The Dolly Madison club will meet at Happy Harry's, Tuesday, March 1, at 7:30 p. m. Reservations must be in by Saturday and may be obtained by calling Mrs. L. D. Bower, at 5256-6. Speaker for the evening will be Charles Anglin, Democratic candidate for mayor.

EGG TIP

In packing eggs the Department of Agriculture advises that the large end should be up. This is a good position for holding quality even when they are kept in the refrigerator. If the large end is down the weight of the egg presses against the air cell, causing the air to rise and gradually loosening the membrane.

J. Neff; sergeant, Mrs. Helen La Reiv; financial secretary, Mrs. Alice Picking; recording secretary, and treasurer, Mrs. Iva Ish.

At the next regular meeting, Monday, March 21, Mrs. Dorothy Beery, managing deputy of Cleveland will be guest. Lunch will be served following the meeting with Mrs. Edith Duffy Mrs. Mary Howell and Mrs. Evelyne Schwartz on the serving committee.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

The engagement of Miss Jeanette Shaw of Bucyrus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Shaw, to Richard Weirick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Weirick of Martel, is being announced by the bride's parents.

Miss Shaw is employed at the General Electric company in Bucyrus, while her fiance is a signal maintenance man for the Erie Railroad company in Marion. He is now stationed with the armed forces at Ft. Knox, Ky. No date has been set for the wedding.

There Are Two Kinds of Twins

If you are bringing up twins it calls for special understanding and tact, says a leading child authority, and a mother must be prepared to cope with two sets of problems at once.

The rearing of children, says Anna Wolf, writer, teaches us more than any other single experience in life. In homes where there are twins this experience is intensified.

There are two kinds of twins the article states. There are identical and fraternal twins. Identicals are amazingly similar while fraternal twins are no more alike than ordinary brothers and sisters. Boy-girl twins are never identical.

The feeling of "we" in place of the usual "I" of ordinary individuals is the clue to the personal problems of identical twins. They tend to become submerged in each other and to feel lost or anxious without their other half. The wise mother of identical twins watches for small differences in the two children and then proceeds to foster, not force these differences.

In fraternal twins the ordinary brother-sister frictions are more intense. Very often with boy-girl twins, one is bigger, more aggressive than the other and becomes dominating and bossy.

Rub a crust of bread with a freshly cut garlic clove and put the bread in your salad bowl. It will give a delicious flavor to the greens when they are tossed with the dressing. Remove the bread crust before serving the salad.

Honor Miss Art With Series Of Pre-Nuptial Showers

MISS EVELYN ART, bride-elect of Marshall D. Smith, was guest of honor at a spinster dinner and miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. David L. McGinty, 27 Shady Lane, sister of the bride.

Dinner was served buffet style, in this last of a series of pre-nuptial showers for Miss Art, from a table lighted with tall white tapers in silver holders. The centerpiece was an arrangement of white pompoms and greens.

Bridge was the diversion of the evening, played at three tables. High score prizes were awarded to Miss Eileen Jesson and Mrs. Bruce B. McGinty.

The bride-elect was honored at another shower, Feb. 11, when Mrs. Howard Lee entertained guests in her home on Lexington avenue. Associate hostesses on this occasion were Mrs. Pete Linster, Mrs. Leo Hackedorn, Mrs. Robert Saltzgaber and Mrs. Sam Korodi.

Dessert was served at small tables with decorations in the Valentine theme. Prizes for bridge scores were awarded to Mrs. George H. Smith and Miss Mary Ann Cusic.

A dessert bridge was given for Miss Art, Feb. 20. Mrs. William O. Dolittle was hostess at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles W. Betz, Atcheson avenue. Small tables were decorated with centerpieces of sweetpeas in crystal bowls. Associate hostess was Miss Eileen Tahsler. The bridge prize was awarded to Mrs. David McGinty.

The couple will be married Saturday at 3:30 p. m. in a closed formal ceremony at the First English Lutheran church with Rev. Carveth Mitchell officiating.

Victorian Members Given Topic By Mrs. Paul Cropper at Club

Mrs. Albert H. Voegele was the guest speaker for the Victorian club meeting held at the Women's club Tuesday with Mrs. William Layton and Mrs. Victor Smith as hostesses.

Flowers decorated the table for the 1 o'clock luncheon at which twenty-two members and one guest, Mrs. Paul F. Cropper jr., were served.

Mrs. Voegele used as her topic "Roman Catholicism" in keeping with the study program of the year, "The World's Great Scriptures". She told of the history of the church, its seven sacraments, prayers of the rosary and the duties of the priests.

On March 28 the members will hold a tea at the home of Mrs. Mark Wolcott, Maple

10 Galion Boy Scouts Presented Awards

GALION — Scout awards were presented to Bernard Dewalt, Bill Beach, Bob Edwards, Dick Cope, Bob Arnold, Bob Moyer, Kenneth Thoman, Richard McClenathan, Pat LaForest and Paul Shifley, at a meeting of the Evangelical United Brethren Brotherhood and members of Troop 6 of the Boy Scouts.

A supper preceded the meeting which was held in the parish hall.

Prunes are delicious when pitted and stuffed with a mixture of soft sharp yellow cheese and finely ground pecan nutmeats. Serve the stuffed prunes on a bed of watercress and pass a dressing.

HOLD WINTER RALLY

LEXINGTON — The winter rally of the Pilgrim Fellowship of the North Central Association of Congregational Churches was held here Sunday. The business meeting was in charge of Vernon Barnhill of Little Washington.

Navy blue — with cocoa accessories — will highlight the fashion stage this spring, forecasts the February issue of CHARM, in a sneak preview of spring fashions. One of CHARM's candidates of spring stardom is a straight-line bolero suit in navy gabardine, with a button-trimmed jacket, priced at $55.

Judge Raps Spending By Tucker Firm

Charges Funds Mishandling

CHICAGO — (UP) — The government charged yesterday that Tucker corporation has mishandled funds and paid unauthorized salaries with money released to it under court order.

Government attorneys filed a petition for a temporary restraining order to prevent the hard-pressed automobile company from making further disbursements.

The petition charged that the company violated an order issued Jan. 6 by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe. Under the order the company was instructed to operate on a maintenance basis only, and salaries of company officials were suspended.

The order was to remain effective pending hearings on receivership litigation. On Jan. 26 Igoe supplemented the order by allowing the company $200,000 of the $600,000 in government bonds held by the War Assets administration, from which the firm leases its huge plant.

In its petition yesterday, the government charged that Tucker spent $55,000 of the $200,000 in the first 11 days of operation on the standby basis.

The petition asked for appointment of a temporary trustee or other judicial officer to handle the funds.

Igoe set Friday for a hearing on the petition and commented:

"Evidently Mr. Tucker and his corporation have one rule. Once they possess money they spend it."

Kissed Dogs, Cats, Husband Complains

CLEVELAND — (UP) — "She kissed the dogs and cats but she wouldn't kiss me," Jack Boyd, 45, told Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick yesterday at a hearing of his divorce suit.

The case was uncontested by Mrs. Lillian Boyd, Madison and Boyd was given a decree on grounds of gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

ON DISPLAY FRIDAY—The new Dodge Coronet, four-door sedan, shown above, along with other models will be on display tomorrow in the Colby and Earick showrooms at 225 North Main street. The new design incorporates functional styling which presents a lower silhouette to the eye. The car has a 123½-inch wheelbase, 4 inches longer than the previous models.

OK Broader Defense Net

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The House Armed Services committee yesterday approved legislation to modernize the defenses of the United States and strengthen the nation's counter-intelligence operations.

The committee approved and sent to the House floor legislation which would:

1. Authorize the air force to establish a protective "radar screen" around the United States to guard against a sneak attack.

2. Direct the air force to create a 3,000 mile range for testing new and powerful guided missiles.

3. Permit the yearly admission of 100 aliens to aid the nation's espionage activities.

The authority to permit the entry of the aliens regardless of immigration quotas would be given to the central intelligence agency and the attorney general.

Grows Another Arm In Court

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — A "one - armed" pencil salesman sprouted a second arm when arraigned in municipal court yesterday for vagrancy.

Police reported when they arrested Wayne E. Dillow, 25, yesterday he had only one arm showing. He had been selling pencils on a street here and had $3 in change, police said.

Dillow pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $5 and sts.

Double Y Group Sponsors Dance

The Double Y committee is sponsoring a dance Saturday night at the YMCA featuring both square and round dancing and a movie dance.

The dance will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. and is open to the public.

Members of the Double Y committee are, Miss Barbara Connor, Miss Dorothy Bacquet, Roy Miles and Joe Damoff. Advisors to the committee are Miss Dorothy Hainer, YWCA business and industrial program director, and John Fike, YMCA physical director.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Samuel Glazer, 61, treasurer of the Adler-Rosenkowitz company, was killed yesterday when two 800-pound bales of waste paper fell on him.

Girl Pushed Into River

HARRISBURG — (UP) — A ten-year-old boy told police today he pushed a neighbor girl into the rain-swollen Susquehanna river and threw stones at her "because our families don't get along."

The five-year-old victim, Sharol Zimmerman, fought her way ashore through the swift current before she collapsed of shock and head wounds caused by the stones.

Her condition at the Harrisburg hospital was "unsatisfactory." Nurses said she cried repeatedly, "Bimpy threw me in the river."

Judge Robert Woodside of the Dauphin county court promptly ordered a psychiatric examination of the girl's assailant, William H. "Bumpy" Wildermuth.

DOG MEN SAY: "Complete NUTRITION"

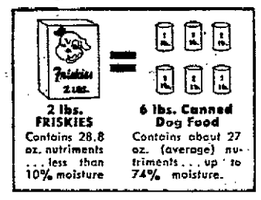
LESLIE KELLY, of New Alexandria, Pa., says "Feeding is as important as breeding. We've fed Friskies for years. It keeps our dogs in top form."

FOR OVER 16 YEARS Friskies has been a favorite of dog men. It is a complete dog food, scientifically balanced to provide all the elements dogs are known to need for total nourishment.

DOGS SAY: "Delicious TASTE"

DOGS of every breed and age, love Friskies' "meaty" taste and smell. And a Friskies diet provides pleasant variety, too—Friskies Cubes to gnaw like a bone, Friskies Meal to eat like hash.

YOU'LL SAY: "Amazing ECONOMY"



2 lbs. FRISKIES Contains 28.8 oz. nutriments ... less than 10% moisture

6 lbs. Canned Dog Food Contains about 27 oz. (average) nutriments ... up to 74% moisture.

Compare actual nutrition. In Friskies you get high food value per penny of cost. It's the most economical type of dog food; is clean, needs no refrigeration.

Judge Raps Spending By Tucker Firm

Charges Funds Mishandling

CHICAGO — (UP) — The government charged yesterday that Tucker corporation has mishandled funds and paid unauthorized salaries with money released to it under court order.

Government attorneys filed a petition for a temporary restraining order to prevent the hard-pressed automobile company from making further disbursements.

The petition charged that the company violated an order issued Jan. 6 by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe. Under the order the company was instructed to operate on a maintenance basis only, and salaries of company officials were suspended.

The order was to remain effective pending hearings on receivership litigation. On Jan. 26 Igoe supplemented the order by allowing the company $200,000 of the $600,000 in government bonds held by the War Assets administration, from which the firm leases its huge plant.

In its petition yesterday, the government charged that Tucker spent $55,000 of the $200,000 in the first 11 days of operation on the standby basis.

The petition asked for appointment of a temporary trustee or other judicial officer to handle the funds.

Igoe set Friday for a hearing on the petition and commented:

"Evidently Mr. Tucker and his corporation have one rule. Once they possess money they spend it."

Kissed Dogs, Cats, Husband Complains

CLEVELAND — (AP) — "She kissed the dogs and cats but she wouldn't kiss me," Jack Boyd, 45, told Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick yesterday at a hearing of his divorce suit.

The case was uncontested by Mrs. Lillian Boyd, Madison and Boyd was given a decree on grounds of gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

ON DISPLAY FRIDAY—The new Dodge Coronet, four-door sedan, shown above, along with other models will be on display tomorrow in the Colby and Earick showrooms at 225 North Main street. The new design incorporates functional styling which presents a lower silhouette to the eye. The car has a 123½-inch wheelbase, 4 inches longer than the previous models.

OK Broader Defense Net

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The House Armed Services committee yesterday approved legislation to modernize the defenses of the United States and strengthen the nation's counter-intelligence operations.

The committee approved and sent to the House floor legislation which would:

1. Authorize the air force to establish a protective "radar screen" around the United States to guard against a sneak attack.

2. Direct the air force to create a 3,000 mile range for testing new and powerful guided missiles.

3. Permit the yearly admission of 100 aliens to aid the nation's espionage activities.

The authority to permit the entry of the aliens regardless of immigration quotas would be given to the central intelligence agency and the attorney general.

Grows Another Arm In Court

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — A "one - armed" pencil salesman sprouted a second arm when arraigned in municipal court yesterday for vagrancy.

Police reported when they arrested Wayne E. Dillow, 25, yesterday he had only one arm showing. He had been selling pencils on a street here and had $3 in change, police said.

Dillow pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $5 and costs.

Double Y Group Sponsors Dance

The Double Y committee is sponsoring a dance Saturday night at the YMCA featuring both square and round dancing and a movie dance.

The dance will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. and is open to the public.

Members of the Double Y committee are, Miss Barbara Connor, Miss Dorothy Bacquet, Roy Miles and Joe Damoff. Advisors to the committee are Miss Dorothy Hainer, YWCA business and industrial program director, and John Fike, YMCA physical director.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Samuel Glazer, 61, treasurer of the Adler-Rosenkowitz company, was killed yesterday when two 800-pound bales of waste paper fell on him.

Girl Pushed Into River

HARRISBURG — (UP) — A ten-year-old boy told police today he pushed a neighbor girl into the rain-swollen Susquehanna river and threw stones at her "because our families don't get along."

The five-year-old victim, Sharol Zimmerman, fought her way ashore through the swift current before she collapsed of shock and head wounds caused by the stones.

Her condition at the Harrisburg hospital was "unsatisfactory." Nurses said she cried repeatedly, "Bimpy threw me in the river."

Judge Robert Woodside of the Dauphin county court promptly ordered a psychiatric examination of the girl's assailant, William H. "Bumpy" Wildermuth.

Suggests Spy Probers Should Ask Dies About Chambers' Revelations

IF YOU want to help the newly organized un-American activities group, suggest they ask former Cong. Dies what he did with the info furnished him in '39—about Whittaker Chambers' allegations, which have since rocked the nation.

Does the Miami Herald know that four ex-Presidents of Venezuela are now in exile in Miami? . . . Washington girls swoon when Cong. James T. Patterson (Conn.) passes by. Handsomest member of Congress. He's the ex-Georgetown Univ. football player . . . One of the wealthiest of the foreign playboys in town has to wind up on the front pages. Because of those weekend jaunts with teenagers.

Now the talk around town is that not only one but two N. Y. papers will be out of business in six months to a year and a half — because of terrific costs.

The new Police Commissioner O'Brien is popular with New Yorkers already. He has a nice face ..That gleam in Fran Warren's eye is socialite Howard Styne...Mrs. Charles Chaplin will appear in the coast production of Saroyan's "Don't Go Away Mad." The producer is her stepson.

Los Angeles police are concerned about an expected influx of notorious characters, whose presence usually presages a circulation war.. Have a war scare: 50 per cent of all television tubes are being requisitioned by the armed forces.

Wild story out of Washington: A political writer recently was divorced from his longtime wife; then married her daughter by a former marriage!

Arthur Miller, author of "Death of a Salesman," had a neighbor whose life and death paralleled the chief character in the hit, I am told . If you win a washing machine or refrigerator (or any other bulky item) on one of those quiz programs, don't expect to get it delivered into your home.

For some unknown reason the truckmen just dump it on your sidewalk and let you lug it in yourself. So what's the bargain?

They say Gene Fowler spent $65,000 gathering data for his new book about Jimmy Walker. He says: "I don't care about making money from them — I just like to write about my friends" ..Here's one for the city desk: Barbara Van Paing, veddy swanky model (of here and Santa Barbara), can be found each Sunday morning (around eleven) in Central Park's sheep meadow playing football with male huskies.

Charges U. S. Presently Living Under Semi-Fascist Conditions

THE PEOPLE of the United States have lived under partial fascism long enough now to have made up our minds whether we like it or whether we want to go back to the republican system defined in our Constitution or go on to real, total fascism.

I think most Americans like it. Those of us who don't like it are afraid to go back to our old constitutional form of government because we are now "geared" to fascism and might strip our gears if we tried to mesh into the Constitution again. We are "geared" to a system of forms and panels and boards, of hearings, appeals and decrees that would be just insanity to some wise, honest American who had died, say, 40 years ago.

As a fair sample, I have here a page clipped from the New York Journal-American of Jan. 12, a whole page of income-tax questions, answers and instructions to a typical citizen making $4,787 a year, who has a wife and two dependent children. A recent court decision held that this is a "low-income" income, eligible for public or charity housing.

Here is one question: "What is the major requirement if I use form 1040-A?" Here is another: "If my wife itemizes her deductions on form 1040 in a separate return, may I use form 1040-A?"

Those who like fascism most, as far as we have gone with our sampling, would hiss the word "fascist" at anyone who proposed that we drop the pretense and frankly salute and embrace fascism. Those would be the New Dealers and the present-day, big-city eastern "progressives" of the Democratic host and all the union bosses.

Huey Long is said to have predicted that when fascism came to the United States it would be disguised as anti-fascism. He certainly called the turn.

The war stopped more than three years ago, but we still can't ungear ourselves because the Russians won't let us end the war and we don't dare abandon the emergency powers as long as Russia threatens us with another war. We certainly are in a mess.

What Governor Tom Dewey really was trying to say in his Lincoln day speech in Washington was that we have been unable to find men in our politics since 1933 who had the ability and the strength of character to manage the nation within the text and spirit of the constitution.

He knows that as the result of this easiest-way of politics the people have completely lost the habit of living without government help or assurance that the government will be there to help in case of inconvenience, to say nothing of disaster.

Being president isn't such a hard job if you can make your own rules and print your own money day by day. But it takes a great man to turn in a successful term as president of the United States within the limitations of the constitution. Maybe it is impossible. Things have changed since it was written.

Dewey said, "We can't outpromise the Democrats." He certainly ought to know. Nobody can say he didn't try.

So Mr. Dewey is right, but he should have put it to the people that what they are asking for is fascism and he should have called for a constitutional convention to amend it to that effect or scrap it—absolutely.

Job Benefits Climb To 3-Year High

Non-Industrial Firms Hire More Workers

More Mansfielders are now claiming unemployment benefits than at any time since July, 1946, according to C. W. Handlew, manager of the Ohio State Employment office here.

Handley said workers claiming unemployment compensation increased 300 from November to mid-January to reach a weekly average of 429 in January.

The recent employment decline has caused a marked increase in job seekers, Handley said. At the beginning of this month approximately 1,100 workers, 300 of them women, were seeking positions through the employment office, about 400 more than on Dec. 1. There are how approximately one-fourth more jobseekers than there were a year ago.

However, non-manufacturing employment continued its slight upward trend during the 60-day period from November to mid-January. Twenty-one selected firms hired more than 100 persons, bringing the number employed to more than 2,200.

Most of this increase was due to seasonal expansion in retail trade and the majority of these temporary employes had been released by the beginning of this month, the report said. Construction and transportation concerns laid off nearly 100 seasonal workers.

In line with employers' previous forecasts, employment in 17 major manufacturing firms in the Mansfield area fell about 300 from November to mid-January, Handley said. The 16,300 persons working last month is slightly below the September level. Rubber and electrical machinery industries accounted for the drop in employment, according to Handley.

DEMAND SLACKENS

A slackening of demand for goods made by these plants, causing production slowdowns for goods made by these plants, causing production slowdowns, was the principal reason for the reduction in workers, he added. Number of employes in the other surveyed factories changed little during the two-month period.

In January the selected manufacturers said they planned to release 275 workers by March. Most of these were to be separated from the fabricated metals industry. Since the forecast was made, lay-offs already have materialized in manufacturing, Handley said.

Non-manufacturing concerns planned in January to reduce employment more than 250 by March. Retail trade, in laying off most of their seasonal workers, will largely account for the loss.

Handley said during January there were 311 openings through the emyloyment office. Skilled workers wanted included diemakers at $1.66½ an hour, gas welders at $1.35 to $1.75 an hour, maintenance electricians at $1.63 an hour, pipe fitters at $1.43½ an hour, and meat cutters at $50 a week.

Most of the jobs had been filled by Feb. 1 when there were approximately 50 openings Stenographers are currently in demand, Handley said.

LANDSLIDE—Loosened by rain and melting snow, a landslide hits a Great Northern passenger train near Edmons, Wash., nearly upsetting one car but causing no injuries. Passengers en route from Vancouver, B. C., to Seattle were taken to their destination by bus.

Roll Call Plans Set

Campaign Details In Area Completed

Final campaign details for the annual Red Cross roll call, which opens next Tuesday, were made last night at a meeting of the campaign personnel, headed by Glenn L. Bierly, chairman.

In addition to last night's meeting, three others on campaign planning are scheduled for today and tomorrow. At 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. today Mrs. Richard Risser, chariman of the woman's division, will meet with her workers at the Red Cross chapter house to discuss campaigning procedure.

Tomorrow at noon, there will be a covered dish luncheon at Shiloh for workers in the northern part of the county. This meeting will be presided over by Mrs. Dewey Reynolds, chairman for the north section. At 8 p. m. tomorrow, a second meeting will be held in Bellville for those workers in the southern part of the county. Mrs. K. M. Willson will preside.

Both the meetings are under the supervision of Mrs. N. J. Marion, who is chairman for the township planning.

Death Takes Chas. Wingert

Charles Wingert, 66, of 68 South Foster street, died this morning at General hospital following an illness of two years.

Mr. Wingert was born Nov. 18, 1882, at Princeton, Ill., coming to Mansfield 37 years ago. He was last employed at the Lautsbaugh Pharmacy. Mr. Wingert was a member of the St. Matthew's Lutheran church and Mansfield Lodge, No. 19, IOOF.

Surviving are his wife, Pearl, two brothers, George and Emil Wingert, of Princeton, Ill

The body is at the Wappner funeral home, where services will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. in charge of Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor of the St. Matthew's church. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Dies In Michigan

Mrs. Olive Weidener, former Attica resident and relative of Charles Weidener, who formerly lived in Mansfield, died at her home in Harrison, Mich., Saturday, according to word received here. The body was placed in the mausoleum at Attica.

Five Mansfield Essay Writers Win Prizes

Mansfield youngsters took five of the eight top awards in the county judging of the American Legion essay contest last night at O'Brien Post 326 in Shelby.

Norma McCally's essay took first place in the 12th grade girls' classification. John Carl Pierce of Mansfield Senior high and Janis Dorsey of St Peter's high school took top honors in the 10th grade classification and Herbert Kronenfeld of Johnny Appleseed junior high and Harlena Bailey of John Simpson junior high won first place in the ninth grade judging. Miss McCally is a senior at Senior high.

The Kronenfeld youth's essay appeared in last Sunday's issue of The News-Journal in connection with Washington's birthday. All essays were written on the assigned subject: "The American Way—What Is It?"

Only first place winners in the various school districts competed in the county contest. No second or third places were chosen in the county judging and all winning essays will be submitted in the Fifth district judging at Norwalk on Sunday, Dwight A. McCullough, division commander of the Legion, said today.

A committee, appointed by District Commander Alton Pontius will judge the essays entered in the district contest.

Shelby high school winners in the contest were: Lonzie McKenzie, first place in the boys' classification for 12th grade; Jerry Dennis, first place in the 11th grade race for boys, and Jean Lynne Riley, first place in the girls' classification for 11th grade.

Judges for the contest, under the supervision of McCullough and Leonard Waines, county commander, were Mrs. L. M. Hoffman and Robert Lafferty, Shelby; Glenn W. Marriott and Mrs. Basil Knapp of Mansfield. McCullough said the best county essays will compete with essays turned in from more than 60 Legion posts at the district judging on Sunday.

Rites Arranged For Harl Andregg

Funeral services for Harl Andregg, 73, of Chicago, father of Ralph Andregg, 95 Wolfe avenue, will be held in Basil at 2 p. m. Friday. Burial also will be in Basil, Ohio.

Mr. Andregg died in Chicago Tuesday night following an illness of two months.

In addition to his son here, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. L. R. McLaughlin of Columbus.

Restaurant Owner Dies

Stephen Harrison, 47, of 229 North Mulberry street, died at General hospital Wednesday night following an extended illness.

Mr. Harrison was born in Istanbul (Constantinople) Turkey, March 30, 1901, coming to America in 1921 and to Mansfield 12 years ago. He was a naturalized citizen and a member of the Greek Orthodox church. Mr. Harrison was also a member of the Loyal Order of Moose.

For the past several years he had owned and operated the Main street lunch.

His only survivors are several cousins.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. at the Greek Orthodox church with Rev. Tjanos Gougoutas, pastor of the church, officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Friends may call at the Finefrock funeral home until noon Saturday.

Farm Bureau Group to Meet

The first luncheon meeting of the Home and Community committee of the Richland County Farm Bureau will take place Friday at 12 noon at the Sky club. Speakers will be J. A. Burkhart, county Farm Bureau manager, and Paul White, organization director of the county Farm Bureau.

The committee is made up of women from five districts in the county, the Farm Bureau board and one representative from each advisory council in Richland county.

The group will elect officers and appoint a legislative representative. Projects for the coming year will be outlined. Purpose of the committee is to raise the rural standards of living.

Death Takes Hospital Cook

Mrs. Cora A. Sellers, who for the past 20 years has been a cook at General hospital and made her home there, died at the hospital Wednesday night after a six-month illness.

Mrs. Sellers was born in Mt. Vernon and lived there until coming to Mansfield 20 years ago.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. William H. Coe of Mt. Vernon.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home and later taken to the Miller-O'Bryan funeral home in Mt. Vernon where services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Saturday. Burial will be in the Mound View cemetery at Mt. Vernon.

Illness Fatal To C. H. Sites

Charles Henry Sites, 58, of Mansfield, R. D. 5, died this morning at the family home following a four-month illness.

Mr. Sites had lived for 40 years on the farm where he died. He was born Feb. 8, 1891, in Richland county and had spent his entire life in this vicinity.

Surviving are his widow, Nellie, and one sister, Mrs. Florence Fickel of Woodville road.

Services will be held at the Wappner funeral home at 1 p. m. Saturday, conducted by Rev. Jack Mellick. Burial will be in the Caesarea cemetery.

LIKES THE WEATHER

Richard, the Lucas groundhog, who didn't show up on Groundhog day, is out scampering around just like spring's here. So are his wilder country cousins, according to reports from Lucas. Richard awoke Feb. 4, two days after the traditional Groundhog day. For a few days he ventured out only briefly, as if he believed the groundhog predictions of six more weeks of winter. Now he appears sure the cold weather is about over. Richard is a pet of the Robert Mowers family.

LOST IS FOUND—

The other day at Brinkerhoff school the youngsters held an exhibit of their home hobbies and collections. Among the items was a sparkling layout of 17 silver dollars brought in by a Bartley avenue boy. After school the lad lingered on the playground for a game of marbles and dropped in at a nearby store. When he got home he approached his mother cautiously with the news that the dollars were lost. After a pause, he asked "Well, aren't you going to spank me?" His mother decided it was more important to find the dollars. The help of all neighborhood storekeepers was enlisted to be on the lookout. Four hours later, the dollars were found, still neatly wrapped, in a drugstore near the school. The boy had left them there on his way home but when he had gone back earlier to inquire about them both he and the clerks had failed to see the package on the floor near a rack of comic books.

Scout Troop Gets Story of Denmark

Mrs. E. S. Fatkin, 603 Yale drive, was the guest speaker at a meeting of Girl Scout Troop 48 at Rebecca Grubaugh school yesterday.

Mrs. Fatkin, who is a native of Denmark, spoke to the girls about that country and showed pictures of Denmark.

Mrs. Robert Beatty is the troop leader.

Diseases Of Heart Kill 278

Commissioner Submits Report

Birth more than doubled deaths in Mansfield and Richland county last year, Health Commissioner Harry Wain's annual report showed today.

The commissioner listed 1,862 births, 41 more than in 1947, and 739 deaths, three fewer than in 1947. Boys outnumbered the girls, 946 to 916.

Heart diseases again were the major killers in the city and county, accounting for 26.4 per cent or 278 of the deaths.

Cerebral hemorrhage was second with 18 per cent of the deaths and cancer was third with 134 deaths, or 15 per cent.

The commissioner reported no serious outbreaks of communicable diseases occurred although 1948 was a "measles year" with 2,049 reported cases in the city-county area. There were only six cases of polio reported, seven less than in 1947, and less than in other parts of the state and nation.

Of the 796 deaths, 435 were in the 65 or over age group, and 192 in the 45 to 64 age group. Sixty children under one year died last year, 18 fewer than in the preceding year.

Mansfield and Richland county had 12 deaths due to tuberculosis last year. Under the tuberculosis control program, as reported by Mrs. Margaret Adams, executive secretary of the county Tuberculosis association, 970 persons had chest X-rays and examinations in the association's 12 diagnostic clinics. Forty-five active cases of tuberculosis were found.

The control of venereal disease is a major health department activity, Dr. Wain said. More than 750 VD cases were admitted to service in 1948. More than half of these were syphilis patients. The department follows up these cases and contacts to see that they are placed under treatment and remain so until cured or the case is arrested.

Dr. Wain called for a new food and sanitation program with the services of an additional sanitarian required. The department made 1,442 visits to food handling establishments in the city-county area last year. This was 475 fewer visits than in 1947.

It was explained that the amount of work for the sanitarian was so great in 1948 that he was unable to make some of the inspections.

Also proposed was a hearing conservation program for school children. This plan will be aided by the presentation of two audiometers to the health department by the Mansfield Co-Operative and Exchange clubs last Tuesday.

Dr. Wain also intends to introduce a new vision testing program when the proper equipment can be purchased.

From the financial angle the city-county boards spent $60,447 for health purposes during the year. These expenditures went for salaries, laboratory services, sanitation supervision, adult hygiene, cancer control, school hygiene, tuberculosis control and other functions.

Dr. Wain's annual report will be presented to the district advisory council March 7 at 2 p. m. in the municipal court room.

The council is composed of the chairmen of the boards of trustees of each township and the mayors of Richland county. They will consider the health department's report and make recommendations for the future.

UP SHE GOES—Another new type-setting machine for the News-Journal composing room is shown above as the two-ton "linotype" was hoisted to the third floor of the N-J building yesterday by the Mansfield Structural and Erecting company crew. Addition of the new machine brings the total to 14 of such type-setting devices in use at the N-J plant.

Pumpkin Papers Found; Probe Runs Into New Snag

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

Whittaker Chamber waited patiently for Rep. Nixon and myself. When we arrived at his Maryland farm on the night of Dec. 1, 1948, we found him sitting in his living room in his rough, work-soiled farmer's clothes.

It was Chambers who brought us to the point.

"I know why you're here," he said, suddenly. He looked at me for a time and added, "You were right, Mr. Stripling. I was withholding information." He could add no more at this time, he said, because his lawyers had warned him he might be held in contempt of court.

25th Article in a Series.

But as we were leaving he said something that aroused my curiosity.

"Do you know of any very good photographic technicians?" he asked me.

"Sure," I said, "we've got one on our staff."

"But the man I want must be very, very good."

"He's good," I repeated.

Chambers thought a bit. "I'll let you know," he said, and bade us good-night. We drove back to Washington, convinced he was still holding something from us, and reported our activities to the F. B. I.

The next day I called Chambers at the farm and asked him to drop by my office when he came to Washington that day. He had told us the night before that he was testifying at a State department loyalty test on this day.

He came in about noon and I handed him the paper. "Mr. Chambers," I said, "this is a subpoena calling on you to deliver to us all papers documents and other matter you have concerning the people named." On the paper I had listed the key principals who had been mentioned in our espionage hearings, mainly by Chambers and Elizabeth Bentley.

Chambers looked at me oddly for a moment, then shrugged and exhaled some air.

"All right," he said. "I'll turn the information over to you. It's at my home in Westminster."

When he reappeared at the office at 5:30, Investigators William A. Wheeler and Donald T. Appell, from our staff, drove him to Baltimore, where he had parked his car, and then he led them to his isolated farm.

He stopped his car in the rough-cut driveway near an old red barn, and my men stopped behind him. But when he stepped out of his car, followed by the investigators, he did not walk toward the door of the old yellow farmhouse. Instead, he cut across the unkempt yard to a pumpkin patch, barely visible to my men. It was 10 p. m.

Then he picked up the most famous pumpkin in history.

EXHIBIT AAAA—The pumpkin shown above takes a prize—but not at a county fair. It is the one in Whittaker Chambers' pumpkin patch which held micro-film copies of "secret" United States papers

He lifted its severed top by the stem, reached into its scooped-out interior and brought forth three small aluminum cylinders, each bound with black adhesive tape.

"Here is what you want," he said.

"What is this, Dick Tracy?" one of our men asked. He reached into the pumpkin himself and brought out two additional rolls, wrapped in oiled paper.

"I don't think this one is any good," Chambers said, indicating one of the metal tubes which had been slightly crushed. "I think the film inside has been light-struck." He sighed and put the pumpkin back on the ground.

"Is that all?" one of our men asked.

"Yes," he said, and walked slowly toward the house.

During the week-end that intervened before Mundt's arrival in Washington to take charge of the committee, Justice department representatives asked and received permission to examine the microfilm in my office, and I showed the material to former Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles at his Oxon Hill, Md., estate.

Welles was deeply impressed with what he read.

"Two of these documents in particular would greatly jeopardize our security if released," he said, as he read. Then after a bit, he added, "If any agent of a foreign power saw these, he could have broken our code."

While we kept the restless reporters waiting, we called an Eastman Kodak man named Lewis over to our offices, to add the weight of his testimony to that which we were about to give the reporters. He copied down the emulsion figures and picked up a phone and called his office. "Look up these figures and get the dates," he said to his girl.

After a bit I could hear her voice answering. "Thanks," Lewis said and hung up. Then he turned to us and said, "This film was manufactured in 1946."

Nixon, Bert Andrews of the New York Herald-Tribune, and I just stood there, too stunned to speak. Lewis, unable to understand our shock, looked at us uneasily and left.

Our case lay in ruins around our feet. It had rested wholly on our charge that these documents had been stolen from the State department in the 1930's, and photographed at that time for transmission to Russia.

I felt like taking a dry dive out the nearest window.

(TOMORROW: Stripling reveals how the Hiss-Chambers case reached its climax with the disclosure by Chambers of new names and his new description of the breadth and scope of the Red conspiracy).

Brinkerhoff Tops School Attendance

Senior High Worst On Truancy Record

Brinkerhoff school led the Mansfield school system in attendance in January, according to a report from the office of superintendent W. L. Miller.

Brinkerhoff's attendance percentage was 95.80 with Prospect, 94 89 per cent, and Bushnell, 94.55 per cent as runners up.

The sight saving school with an enrollment of 10 achieved a 96.46 per cent attendance record for the same period but because of the small enrollment cannot be compared with the larger schools, officials explained.

Truancy was highest in senior high and John Simpson Junior high. Each reported 25 cases, but each was also above the 90 per cent attendance mark. These two schools also had the highest number of tardy students, but it must be remembered that their enrollments are higher than any other city schools, Miller said.

Schools reporting no truancy were Brinkerhoff, Rebecca-Grubaugh, Prospect, Woodland, and Roseland elementary.

During the period covered by the report, 2939 pupils were neither tardy nor absent out of a total city enrollment of 7,151. The best record was achieved by Woodland school which reported only 18 cases of tardiness.

1951 Model Drumstick

Contest On to Develop Meatier Fowl

Acontest to encourage chicken growers and breeders in the state to help develop meatier chickens—"with beefier drumsticks and extra layers of white meat," has been announced.

It's another "Ohio Chicken of Tomorrow" contest and will run through 1951. In the coast to coast contest, a total of $10,000 in awards will be offered.

In Ohio, the contest is sponsored by the Ohio Poultry council and M. C. Sweet, extension poultryman at Ohio State university was named state chairman.

Awards are also being offered in a junior contest and sponsors hope this phase can be worked in with 4-H and FFA club projects.

Goal of the three-year program, the sponsors say, is to develop a "1951 model chicken" —a bird with more meat. Sponsors say the new bird "is being scientifically redesigned to bring increased consumer satisfaction, in the same fashion that science has converted cattle, hogs and other food animals."

The hatching date for the 1949 contest has not been announced, but plans are to set it for sometime in late March or early April. Sweet said that anyone with at least 100 straight-run chicks or 50 sexed cocherels is eligible to compete. Wing bands for identifying the birds will be furnished by the national committee

Entry blanks and information may be obtained from the Ohio Chicken-of-Tomorrow headquarters. Poultry Building Ohio State university in Columbus. The prizes are being offered by the Atlantic and Pacific food stores.

NLRB Overruled By Appeals Court

CINCINNATI —(INS)— An NLRB finding against the West Ohio Gas company had been overruled today by the U. S. District Court of Appeals at Cincinnati.

The National Labor Relations board had found the company guilty of coercion and illegal firing in discharging Ralph Engle Jan. 16, 1946.

The court rescinded the board order to reinstate the employe.

CORNELL GETS GRANT

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Floyd R. Newman of Cleveland, a director of the Ashland Oil and Refining company donated securities valued at about $1,000,000 to the Cornell university laboratory of nuclear studies, Cornell university announced Wednesday.

Oddly Carved Rock Starts Disputes Among Historians

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The subject weighs 200 pounds, stripped, and measures 31 by 16 by 6 inches.

It's a rock—with holes in it and some fancy writing on the side.

The writing — or carving— is supposed to tell the bloody and dramatic story of a bunch of Swedes and Norwegians who were waiting any minute for a scalping by the Indians in the 14th century in Minnesota.

The stone probably is the most controversial slab of granite in the world. Right now it's enshrined in the foyer of the National museum, which is part of the Smithsonian institution.

The rock has ruffled more scientific feathers (almost) than Einstein's theory of relativity. It's still a topic of lively discussion in Norway, Sweden, Minnesota, Farmer city and Washington.

The debate over its authenticity, whether some rascal had the patience and gall to chisel a long message onto a hunk of rock just to worry future archeologists!

The Smithsonian, which is pretty wise to phonies, doesn't think so.

Evidence, across the years, has been piling up. Much of it has been compiled by H. R. Holand of Ephrian, Wis., a leading Norse-American historian.

He proudly shows you a literal translation of the inscription on the stone. It says, in effect, that eight Swedes and 22 Norwegians went out to catch some fish one day and when "we came home we found 10 of our men red with blood and dead."

That was, according to the lettering on the stone, the year 1362.

Maybe Columbus wasn't first. The Smithsonian isn't saying for sure.

But the archeologists there consider the rock "one of the most significant historical objects ever found in the new world."

Gen. Clay Lauded for His Efforts

Change-Over Poses Numerous Problems

At the end of last week the President accepted the resignation of the Under Secretary of the Army, General William H. Draper jr. It is fair to say that this is one of those events which cast a long shadow ahead of them.

Mrs. Draper is a faithful, effective and honorable public servant, the devoted friend of General Clay, formerly his principal adviser in Berlin, more recently his nominal superior in Washington.

No one can replace him, and it is difficult to suppose that his resignation would have been offered or accepted if there were not a general agreement in all quarters that the transfer from the army to the civilians of authority over German affairs cannot be postponed much longer.

The United States alone among the occupying powers has not yet brought its German affairs under the direct and undisputed control of the civilians who conduct foreign affairs. Thus General Robertson, the British commander in Germany, takes his orders, except on purely military matters, directly from the Foreign office. But General Clay has been receiving his orders through Mr. Draper, who has been in effect General Clay's representative in Washington. As a result the policy of the United States in Germany has not been formed or managed by Mr. Byrnes, Mr. Marshall, or the State department, but in fact by General Clay.

A BIG PROBLEM

Yet as long as the State department does not determine our German policy, it can never hope to have a successful European policy. Germany is the central problem of European security, of European reconstruction, and of our conflict with the Soviet union. Until and unless Mr. Acheson can decide what are to be our relations with Britain, France, Scandinavia, or Yugoslavia, he will be like a man whose right hand is tied behind his back.

Yet it will not be easy now for the State department to assume control over German affairs. The State department has never had control. General Clay did not seek the control which he exercises. It has come to him because someone had to exercise power in Germany and there has been nobody in Washington who knew how or was willing to take the responsibility

General Clay is a man of the very greatest ability—one of the strongest American figures of our times; he is also deeply imbued with the American tradition, and quite without vulgar ambition or delusions of grandeur. In no sense of the term has he usurped power.

If he has acquired power—much more power than any general or any subordinate official ought to have—it is because there has been no one in Washington for the past three years who knew enough about Germany to argue with General Clay, or trusted his own judgment enough to overrule General Clay

For that reason though General Clay and everyone else knows that the State department must take over in Germany it is most difficult to see who is to take over and how it is to be done There is to speak frankly, no one in the higher reaches of the State department, who knows as much about Germany as General Clay has learned in the past four years It is not likely, therefore, that the State department could administer successfully a policy which General Clay, and not the department has formed

CLAY NEEDED

Our German policy is so intimately bound up with General Clay, is so much a matter of his special knowledge and unique position that it would be a rash man indeed who thought he could carry on what General Clay has begun If the policy to which we are committed in Germany can be made to work successfully the chances are ten to one that only General Clay can make it work successfully

The conclusion is therefore unavoidable, I think, that the State department ought not to take the responsibility for Germany unless it is prepared to review and revise the American policy in Germany.

If the policy is to remain essentially unchanged, it would be far wiser to leave the authority of General Clay unchanged. If the policy can succeed, he is best fitted to make it succeed, and should stay where he is

If it is doomed to fail then any diminution of General Clay's authority will mean that the failure will be ascribed not to the errors of the policy but to the inefficiency of the State department.

This means that the basic question which has to be decided is not whether the State department shall take over from the army. It is whether a change of authority is desirable because a change of policy is necessary.

Stephenson Stages Big Scoring Show

By CHARLEY STINE

As spectacular a one-man show as Richland county basketball has ever seen was put on by Lucas' Jack Stephenson last night as he led his team into semi-final tournament play at Senior high gym. Actually Stephenson beat Plymouth, 47-40, and Bellville eliminated Butler, 47-39.

Stephenson scored Lucas' last 12 points as he single-handedly brought them from behind with an amazing exhibition of coolness under fire. With four minutes to go an upset looked in the making as the score read: Plymouth 38, Lucas 35. From there on the Pilgrims scored two points and Stephenson racked up a dozen.

GOES ALL THE WAY

He banged in a one-hander and a succeeding free throw just to get warmed up. Then with the score tied he twice in succession intercepted passes under the Plymouth basket and dribbled the length of the floor to lay-up goals. He was fouled on the first of the two shots and made good his free throw.

After Ronald Trauger hit a two-pointer to put Plymouth only two points behind, Stephenson rammed home another bucket and two fouls to put the game on ice.

Altogether the 16-year-old junior tallied 24 points to be in a class by himself as the tournament's outstanding player thus far. He stands only five-nine.

Semi-final games tonight will bring together Ontario and Lexington in the 7:30 opener and Lucas and Bellville in the nightcap.

Ontario and Lexington should both be over their first night jitters and put up a close battle in the first game. Bellville is rated a slight favorite over Lucas despite the dangerousness of Stephenson. Bellville beat Lucas, 48-45, last Friday in a county league game.

BIG PRIZE TONIGHT

Big prize tonight is two berths in next week's district tournament at Bucyrus. Finals of the county joust will be played Saturday but the only reward for winning that game is honor and a trophy. Tonight's games mean win or go home. Losers will meet in a consolation at 7:30 Saturday and then hang up their basketball togs for the season.

Bellville was forced to make a second half comeback to stay in the running last night. Butler lived up to its reputation as tournament dark horse as it paced the Blue Jays through most of the first half and led 20-19 at the intermission.

Bellville opened the second half with a vengeance, however, and after a minute and 15 second had gone by, Butler called time out to find itself trailing, 25-20. Bill Lyon had hit on a one-hander to open the half and then Bill Balliett and Bill Smith tallied on successive fast breaks.

Speed was the principal difference in the ball game and the Blue Jays continued to pour it on and moved into a 34-27 lead at the third quarter. They increased the margin to 11 points at 45-34 with three minutes left to play.

One of the deciding factors was the throttling of Butler's sharpshooting Bill Allen. Bellville Forward Jim Fry proved once again that he is the best defensive player in the league by holding Allen to 15 points. Allen slipped in nine in the first half but Fry tightened and halted him with one field goal in each of the last two quarters. Fry was also a bear on the backboards and tapped in 11 points for himself, mostly on rebounds.

SEE-SAW TILT

The second game was a see-saw affair with first one team and then the other looking to have it in the bag. The lead changed hands seven times in the first half with Plymouth holding it 25-22 at the intermission. After the Pilgrims increased the margin to 27-22, Lucas looked to have things in command as it scored 10 straight points to run the count to 32-27 in its favor.

Early in the fourth quarter the lead shifted back to Plymouth as the Pilgrims scored seven straight points to move out in front 36-33. Then came Stephenson and the end of the basketball season for the Pilgrims.

DONNENWIRTH LEAPS HIGH—Lucas may have won the ball game, 47-40, but here's one rebound it didn't get. Plymouth's Desmond Donnenwirth (7) appears to have full control of the situation as he leaps high to take the ball off the backboard. Other players visible are Plymouth's Wayne Matthews (6), Lucas' Bob Zody (10), Plymouth's Dean Grabach (8) and Lucas' Bob Harvey (11).—(News-Journal photo)

McKinley Boasts Canton's Top Offensive Cage Team

McKinley, Canton's top high school offensive unit, will appear here tomorrow night to try to put a stop to Mansfield Senior high's long home basketball court winning streak.

The Tygers have won 19 in a row since the 1946-47 season when Canton McKinley turned the trick, 58 to 41, in the season finale. Nine of the wins have been chalked up this year as the Tygers have copped 13 of 19 contests.

In winning 11 of 16 games, McKinley has averaged 51.6 against 42.2 for the opposition. The defensive mark is the second best among Canton's six high schools. Senior high has dunked in 50.1 points per game to its foes 42.9.

WIN TWO OF ELEVEN

Since Vern Hoffman has been coaching at Senior high school, the Tygers have managed to win but two of 11 games from McKinley. Making the Bulldogs the toughest team on the Bengal schedule. Canton now has won three straight from Mansfield.

Only one regular is back off the squad which knocked off the Bengals, 42 to 30, last year at Canton. He is Basil Albert, a speedy 5-9 senior, who is Canton's fifth best scorer with 174 points. Wendell Early, a six-footer up from the reserves, has 186 points. Early is a sophomore and Canton's fourth best point producer.

The other top scorer is Manuel Alvarez, who has 171 points. Which gives McKinley one of the best balanced attacks the Tygers have seen all year.

Other starters are Charles Rex, 6-2 center, and Carl Stosic, 5-11 guard. Alvarez stands 5-9.

BULLDOG VICTORIES

McKinley has beaten Cleveland Lincoln, 53 to 32; Youngstown East, 56 to 53; Cleveland Rhodes, 61 to 33; Warren, 49 to 38; Canton Lincoln 47 to 46; Alliance, 48 to 39 and 42-34; Akron Kenmore 83 to 34; Canton Timken, 57 to 50; Niles, 49 to 41, and East Liverpool, 46 to 32.

Losses have been at the hands of Cleveland Heights, 44 to 50; Massillon, 45 to 47 and 39 to 45; Akron St. Vincent's, 42 to 49, and Steubenville, 49 to 52.

The Akron Kenmore score set a new all-time McKinley scoring record.

Hoffman sent his charges through a long defensive drill last night and will taper off with a shooting session tonight.

5 Fox Drives Set Saturday

At least five different drives have been prepared for the Richland county Fox Hunters association for Saturday, according to James Snyder, president.

Hunters will meet at Alta at 8:45 a. m. for the first drive, will hold two more in the morning, then eat lunch at the Presbyterian church in Lexington. Two other hunts are scheduled for the afternoon.

Field Marshall for the day will be Emmory Smith who will appoint 16 line captains.

All interested were invited to attend the drives.

'A' Bowling League Scores Drop Down

City A league bowlers did their poorest scoring of the season last night as only three "600's" were tallied and the highest of these was 606.

Ed Burger, rolling with Ideal Billiards, had the 606 on games of 216-195-195, while Colony alley manager, Art Hilborn, posted 228-182-195—605 with league-leading Bissman's. Joe DeYarmon of Deschner's concocted 604 on games of 200, 182, and 222.

Frank Burton of Mitsch's Corner store missed the honor roll by one pin as he tossed 177-207-215—599, and Fritz Vogel, Mid-Ohio, was two pins off with 226-180-192.

Bissman's Bob Lynch kicked over 586 pins while Joe Bernat of 36 Bar and Joe Harrod of Ideal Billiards had 581's.

A whole cluster of keglers were in the 570's, including: Cliff Forsythe, Dr. Pepper, 576; Ken Carlisle, Deschner's Cabs, 575; Paul Walrick, Liederkranz, 574; Nick Weber, Liederkranz, 573; and Joe Lain, Ace Cabs, 572.

Top team effort was a 1009 second game rolled by Waldman Meats. Bissman's had the best series, 2810.

★

Ideal Panel and Home Interiors remained tied for the Victory loop lead by winning two of three games. Tony's Canfield, which had been in a three-way deadlock, fell back as it dropped two of three games to Ideal Production.

Russell Shade of Ideal Panel had things all to himself in the individual department as he scattered the maples for a 592 series on games of 233, 165, and 194. Denny Berry, Home Interiors, was far to the rear with a 527 count but took down second place. Earl Turner had a 526 for Tony's, Harlow Hesson posted 509 for OSR and Vince Ruhl count 504 for Home Interiors.

★

Westinghouse A leaguers were paced by Dana Moxley who spilled 595 sticks on games of 172, 201, and 222. Bob Gressmer tossed a 578, C. Shasky turned in 568, and D. DeWeese racked up 558.

Others over the 500 level included L. Mertz, 544; R. Witt and R. Stevenson, 529, R. Workman, 524, Howie Waldman, 518, and Ed Marion, 514.

★

Mary Melton was tops in the Dominion Women's bowling league with 169-167-144 while June Aumend had 170-149-139—458. Others: Audrey Campbell, 456; Irma Kunz, 449 and Nellie Bonecutter, 431.

★

Grace Chronister easily topped the Westinghouse Women's league with 125-170-142—437. Others: Sophie Metz, 379; Daisy Barko, 367; Eva Horning, 366 and Rose A. Daniels. 361.

★

Lead in the Westinghouse C league went to R. Fair with a 576. He sandwiched a big 230 between games of 160 and 186. Lou Tridico was right behind with 202-179-191—572.

Others: D. Shipley, 565, R. Page, 541; C. Stone, 524; W. Hoffman, 524 and Nick Komjenovich, 521. Ralph Bair had a 212.

★

A 501 by W. VanRiper topped the Westinghouse C league. Miller was runner-up with 496 while B. Laughlin was only one pin behind. L. Wiley posted 474 and E. Fellure, 472.

★

Lead in the Westinghouse B league at Richland went to J. Henke with 161-167-221—549 while K. Dunham had 153-289-193—535. Others: F. Beal, 527; J. Kurek, 521; C. Deschner, 518; R. Bottorf, 517 and F. Bertka, 512.

★

Wanda Conrad, Mansfield Lumber, and Martha Dye, Kay's Shoppe, tied for first in the Richland Ladies' league with 508's. Wanda hand games of 168-181-158 while Martha chalked up 168-157-183.

Others: Elnora Kanz Gentille, McCarrick's, 494; Helen McCracken, Fairview Bar, 488; Blanche Armstrong, Fairview, 467; Peg Shoup, Fairview, 461, and Hon Wehinger, McCarrick's, 456. Elnora got off with a 214 but faded to games of 141 and 139.

Fairview easily paced the teams with 2337, taking three games from Kay's Shoppe. Ringside and Mansfield Lumber won other sweeps.

★

Ray Dillon was tops in the St. Peter's Alumni league with 202-190-161—553 while Bob Tipul had 154-226-171—551. Others: Jim Keller, 534 and Tom Tipul, 471.

Galion Juniors Win South Title

GALION — The Galion junior high basketball team is now eligible to compete in the Northern Ohio league tournament at Bellevue next Tuesday night.

The Galion team defeated Upper Sandusky in the finals here last night, 39 to 25. Bucyrus junior high defeated Crestline, 30 to 13, in the preliminary.

The victory gave Galion the southern half championship of the tournament. The Fred Evans coached team had swamped Crestline, 45 to 4, Monday.

Cleveland Barons Tie For Second

(By International News Service)

The Cleveland Barons moved within easy distance today of the western division lead in the American hockey league, and hoped to take over the sector's top spot in their home and weekend series with the pace-setting Indianapolis capitals.

Cleveland dropped the Springfield Indians, 7-1, last night to climb into a second-place tie with Pittsburgh.

Bandy-Legged Honus Wagner Celebrates 75th Birthday

CARNEGIE, Pa.—(AP)—Baseball's "Mr. Shortstop" celebrated 75 years of living today.

Bandy-legged, barrel-chested Honus Wagner said he'd "stay in baseball as long as it will have me."

The Flying Dutchman retired from the playing ranks in 1917 after a 21-year major league career. He held more records than a juke box. Most of the marks still stand—tribute to the hulking shortstop the late John McGraw called the "greatest player in baseball history."

Honus went back to baseball in 1932 as a scout and coach for his beloved Pittsburgh Pirates. An attack of flu laid him low for a time this winter. As a result, he'll bypass the Pirates' spring training trip to California. But he expects to be on the job as usual when the umpire shouts "play ball" at Forbes Field.

Hundreds of birthday messages and telegrams poured into the Wagner home in this little community, five miles from Pittsburgh.

"It still is great to be alive," Wagner declared. "I feel the same but the years seem to go more quickly. It seems like I just had a birthday."

Thirty-two years have passed since Wagner cavorted on the diamond but his autograph is as eagerly sought by the fans as those of the current baseball heroes.

But Wagner's no. 1 fan is his wife, Bessie, whom he married in 1916.

"He's the greatest shortstop that ever lived," Bessie will tell anyone who listens. "I always thought so and I always will."

"Pshaw," says Honus.

Baseball Harvests Light Crop of Contracts

Brooklyn Lists 17 Among Fly Chasers

NEW YORK—(UP)—Gene Hermanski, who represents what little home run power the Brooklyn Dodgers have, returned his signed contract for 1949 today along with that of rookie infielder Buddy Hicks.

The robust blond outfielder pumped 15 round-trippers last year, not much compared to the 40 totals of Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner and the Giants' Johnny Mize.

But that was more than any Dodger hit since the days of Dolph Camilli, who had 26 in his last season (1942). And Hermanski's blows were important to the 1948 Dodgers who ranked sixth in the loop in homer production with 91

FACES A BATTLE

Hermanski, a 27-year-old left-handed hitter, had a good batting mark of .290 in 133 games and stole 15 bases. Even so, he faces a battle for his job because the Dodgers will have 17 outfielders in camp.

The Dodgers also announced the purchase of James Edward Pendleton, 23-year-old Negro shortstop, from the Chicago Giants of the Negro American league. Pendleton, the 11th Negro to sign in the Dodger organization, lives in St. Louis and will be assigned to St. Paul.

The Chicago White Sox were left with a lone holdout today, Second Baseman Don Kolloway, after settling with three players.

THREE FOR SOX

Agreeing to terms were Infielder Cass Michaels, a .248 hitter, Outfielder Dave Philley, who hit .287, and Pitcher Max Surkont, drafted from Rochester where he won 15 and lost 11.

The Boston Braves got a signed pact from their top draft choice, Outfielder Don Thompson, who hit .285 for Columbus last year.

★

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Rookie Pitcher Will Hafey has signed his contract with the Cleveland Indians, bringing the number of satisfied Tribesmen to 28, the Indians' front office announced yesterday. Contracts of 11 players are still outstanding.

Hafey, a right-hander, came from Oakland of the Pacific Coast league late last summer with a record of 13 wins and 10 losses with the club in 30 games in which he appeared.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif — (AP)—Four members of the Pittsburgh Pirate ball club are still unsigned, General Manager Roy Hamey said here today.

He listed them as Pitcher Vic Lombardi, Outfielder Walt Judnich and Infielders Jack Tobin and Les Fleming.

Appleseeders Close Season With Victory

Johnny Appleseed junior high's city champions closed their basketball season yesterday with a 43-40 victory over the Madison reserves in a well-played game at Appleseed gym.

It was Appleseed's tenth victory against four losses. The teams took turns running up leads. Madison led 25-19 at the half after the score had been tied at 13-13 at the end of the first quarter. Appleseed came back to tie it up at the end of the third period and held an 11-point lead when Madison rallied to score eight points in the last minute of play

Dave Schwein and Bud Montgomery led the Appleseed attack with 15 and 10 points each while Marty Keipp pumped in 14 for Madison.

Appleseed won the preliminary 21-9 over the Madison second-stringers.

Don Rehfeldt Tops Big Nine

CHICAGO — (AP) — Don Rehfeldt, Wisconsin's 6-foot 6-inch left handed hook shot artist from Chicago, popped in 42 points in his last two big nine basketball games to boost his season's total to a league-leading total of 179 points

The big badget center has virtually clinched the 1949 individual scoring championship and appears headed for the 200-point mark for the season.

Howard Williams, Purdue guard and forward, and Bob Rudiger, Ohio State center, hold the runner-up spot to Rehfeldt, each with 163 points in fourth place is Minnesota's Jim McIntyre, with 149 points, followed by his teammate, Meyer Skoog, who has 146 points.

OHIO GUARD — Shelley Swank, former Mansfield Senior high athlete, is one of the guards on the undefeated Ohio university freshman basketball team. He stands 5-11. The team is touted as the best in history at Ohio U.

Strobel Takes Buckeye Post

COLUMBUS — Harry L. Strobel, 40-year-old Barberton high football coach, was named today as head mentor of the Ohio State freshman football squad.

Strobel, who won the title "Ohio's high school coach of the year" in 1947, produced a state champion eleven at Barberton two years ago and taught the Bellevue basketball squad when it took the state crown in 1945.

Strobel is a graduate of Massillon high school and Miami university.

Never Competed In High School, Hot In College

NEW YORK — (AP) — Paul Arizin, a lanky Philadelphian who never played basketball until he went to college, was threatening today to oust Tony Lavelli of Yale from the nation's basketball scoring leadership.

Arizin, a junior at Villanova, has averaged 21.6 points per game for 20 games. Lavelli's average for 22 games is 21.8.

The difference is that Arizin has been improving his average steadily while Lavelli has gone down hill. The Villanova center's biggest surge was his record 85 points in a single game two weeks ago.

He added 54 points in two games last week while Lavelli could pick up only 32 in a like number of contests. The figures, reported by the national collegiate athletic bureau, include games through Saturday.

The individual scorers by sections included:

Middle west, Richter, Cincinnati, 18.0; Schnittker, Ohio State, 17.9; McIntyre, Minnesota, 16.9; Boven, Western Michigan, 16.8; Brown, Miami (Ohio) 16.4.

Scores Knockout

CHICAGO — (AP) — Featherweight Elmer Lakotas of Youngstown, Ohio, representing the Cleveland team, scored a third-round knockout last night over Tano Avilo of Kansas City, in the quarterfinals of the Golden Gloves at Chicago stadium.

5 Madison Senior Cagers Go In Final Ball Contest

Five Madison high school seniors will take part in their last regular season basketball game tomorrow night when the Rams close their campaign at Galion.

The five, four of whom are regulars, will be closing out a season which, although disappointing at times, has actually been better than was expected from the inexperienced crew.

The seniors are regular forwards Ray "Dutch" Bader and Jim Brightbill, center Joe Distl, guard Larry Secrist and sub Gene Riblet who has seen action at center and guard.

LOOKING BETTER

Madison has lost five of its last six ball games yet has looked better in the last two than it did at mid-season. The Rams broke a four-game losing streak with a fine game against Willard in their last home contest and then bowed to sharpshooting Loudonville last Friday.

Galion, Madison's opponent tomorrow and Senior high's opponent in next week's Class A sectional tournament, is another team with an in-and-out record.

SOPH SOUTHERN

The Tigers boast one of the top ball-players in the area in forward Ray Seif, a six-foot left-handed shooting sophomore. Seif, playing his second season of varsity ball, is an all-around athlete and a fine baseball pitching prospect.

Madison's sophomore ace, Ed Chelski, has slipped slightly in scoring percentages but still holds the respectable figure of 11.8 for 18 games played.

Distl is second with an 8.5 mark for 17 games.
